Exhibit Showing Products of Many Local Industries Opened Today

INSPECTING SAMPLES OF FABRICS IN THE TEXTILE EXHIBITS

"America's leading textile city" is the title given to Lowell by Mayor Perry D. Thompson. That it deserves the designation was shown by an exhibition opened today in the chamber of commerce rooms of the products of many of the city's leading industrial plants. The display has been collected under the supervision of the municipal committee of the community service of which Frederick Coburn is chairman. It is to be open to the public without charge for admission all of this week.

The display consists of samples of Lowell products, attached to heavy pieces of card board, and hung around three of the sides of the chamber's meeting room. On each sample is a label telling the name of the manufacturer, the nature of the products, and in some cases the places to which it is sent in export trade.

Massachusetts Mills First

The first display that greets the visitor on entering the room is that of the Massachusetts cotton mills. The first samples are calculated to make one drowsy with their gentle suggestions of the luxury of slumber beneath "Downy" blankets of many dainty shades and textures.

Peddler

"If we had 110 or 115 licenses, we wouldn't have any more drunkenness cases than we have now," declared Judge Enright in the police court, this morning when a score of intoxication charges were recorded on the docket as Lowell's week-end contribution to the theory that John Barrymore is the liveliest ghost discovered since the days of the Fox sisters. There were nine releases by Probation Officer Slattery. Eleven men appeared to answer charges of imbibing strong waters.

Andrew Radzick gave the lie to the police representative who testified that he bought a pint of shine from him for $2; then Judge Enright gave Radzick three months and a $150 fine. Martin Soper was before the bar of justice charged with driving around with two barrels containing what is alleged to be beer. Aleck Dubinski was charged with operating an automobile while drunk. In short, it was a wet week-end, and no wonder his honor wanted to know where they are getting it. Deputy Downey was there. (Continued to page 11)

Mr. De Valera, adds the newspaper, replied that if the premier made such a statement public, he (de Valera) would give a public hearing.

Ready to Talk Peace

NEW YORK, May 16.—Eamon de Valera and his Irish republican colleagues are ready to discuss peace with Lloyd George, now that the people of Ireland have clearly demonstrated their will," it was declared here today by Harry Boland, republican representative. It will not be as great as anticipated when the road sought to reduce wages 20 per cent.

TO REOPEN OLD HOSPITAL BUILDING

The old building of St. John's hospital in the left street, which was closed when the new building adjoining it was opened about a year ago, will be reopened on or about June 15, it was announced at the hospital office today.

With the opening of the new building, the original hospital was closed for alterations and repairs and workmen have practically completed their labors there. The building has been thoroughly modernized from top to bottom and presents an appearance comparable to the fine structure in which the hospital's work has been carried on for the past year.

According to the sisters in charge of the hospital, the remodelled old building will be used almost exclusively for maternity cases and the most modern accessories for such a department will be available.

It had been hoped to have the old building ready for occupancy again on June 1 but owing to a slight, unforeseen delay, the re-opening had to be postponed until the middle of the month.

Retirement of Chief Clerk
Reardon Arouses Discussion at City Hall

The retirement of William J. Reardon, chief clerk and secretary of the assessors' department, after 37 years of labor in the municipal service, has aroused a discussion at city hall as to who can now come forth to claim the laurel crown for seniority in service in the municipal building.

William P. McCarthy, assistant city clerk, is the only one who will come forward and modestly admit that his name may well be put before all the rest. Mr. McCarthy has worked at city hall for 34 years and no other clerk or official in the building has as yet taken it upon himself to dispute Mr. McCarthy's claim to first honors, following Mr. Reardon's withdrawal from the contest.

Joseph Farrell, assistant city treasurer, isn't far behind his co-worker across the corridor. He began his

It was voted at the meeting that petition shall be immediately drawn up for presentation to the city council asking it to adopt an order making contract work on the highways compulsory in the future. BOSTON COLLEGE DRIVE

Campaign Will Close This Evening — Lowell Will Raise $40,000

The Lowell campaign to assist in raising $2,000,000 for the Boston college building fund will end in a blaze of glory this evening and it is expected that when Dr. Michael A. Tighe, division chairman, receives his final reports, Lowell's contribution to the fund will be close to $40,000.

The statewide campaign will close this evening and those in charge have every hope that the $2,000,000 quota will be realized. The closing hours of the drive saw committees all over the state making one final effort to make the campaign a success. Lowell men and women responded to the appeal of the campaign directors most gratifyingly in the final collections. A

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Nearly 1200 Attend Annual Communion at St. Peter's Church—Breakfast Later

Nearly 1200 members of Lowell council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, marched from the council rooms in the Associate building to St. Peter's church yesterday morning where they received communion in a body at a special mass at 8:30 o'clock. It was by far the most largely attended annual communion ever held by the local council and was most impressive in every respect.

Following the mass at St. Peter's the members marched to high school hall, where they listened to a forceful and instructive address by Peter W. Collins, the noted R. C. lecturer. It had originally been intended to hold the communion breakfast in Associate hall but the size of the crowd made this impossible.

The members left their rooms shortly after 5 o'clock and were headed by the Lowell Cadet band on their march to the church. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's, who was assisted in giving communion by Rev. Peter T. Linahan. The members of the council practically filled the entire sanctuary of the church.

GEORGE F. BRIGGAN

Music for the mass was provided by members of the Knights of Columbus Glee club with Conventioneer James E. Donnelly sustaining the solos. Dr. Keleher preached the sermon on the gospel of the day and took occasion to congratulate the members of the council on their excellent showing. He said that their attendance at the mass in such large numbers indicated that they were co-operating with their officers and spoke of the general good to be accomplished by such a demonstration of their faith. He extended his appreciation and that of the chaplain of the council, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, who is now convalescing at St. John's hospital, for the interest which the members had shown in their order.

From St. Peter's the members marched to the high school at Anna street, where breakfast was served in the upper hall. A special table had been erected on the platform on the Anna street side and there the officers and their guests sat. Among them were Grand Knight Briggan, Peter Collins of Chelsea, Deputy Grand Knight Hart, Dist. Deputy Charles J. Landers, Past G. K. Robert R. Thomas, Past District Deputy William F. Thornton, Chairman Thomas B. DeLaney of the school board, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy, Chief Saunders of the fire department, Supt. Welch of the police department, Commissioner John F. Salmon, and Hugh J. McOsker.

Grand Knight Briggan called to order after the breakfast and congratulated the members upon the splendid turnout. He conveyed to one and all the felicitations of the chaplain, Rev. Fr. Heffernan, who, he said, although still at St. John's hospital was with them in spirit. He then introduced the only speaker of the occasion, Mr. Peter Collins, field worker of the order and an orator of ability.

Mr. Collins expressed his pleasure in meeting the members of Lowell council and of speaking in the home city of Cardinal O'Connell, whom he regarded as one of the greatest cardinals of the church. The speaker gave a very interesting account of his experience in lectures all over the United States and assured his audience that many delusions held in some parts of the country relative to the Knights of Columbus were easily dispelled by a plain statement of what the order stands for—God and country. The example set by practical Catholics, he said, is the strongest influence in dispelling false notions as to Catholic teaching and practice. He dwelt upon the efficacy of prayer and frequent communion as potent forces in obtaining what we ask from God, in overcoming our human frailties and living continually in God's grace.

In conclusion he referred to the Knights of Columbus service overseas and said this spirit of sacrifice for God and country must continue. In this great country we have a vast area of 3,600,000 miles yet in that there is not and never should be one square foot for the man who is not willing to prove his loyalty and devotion to the Stars and Stripes. He defined "service" by the letters of the word thus: "S" for sacrifice for God and country; "E" for education, by which we increase our power for good; "R" for religion and our glorious republic; "V" for vision as to conditions and the right course of action; "I" for industry and production so necessary to our country at the present time; "C" for character which stands firmly for what is right and moves onward to success; "E" for enthusiasm, without which no great work is ever accomplished. He closed with an appeal for maintaining a spirit of loyalty that combats radicalism in all its forms and works always for 100 per cent. Americanism.

OBSERVE FEAST OF PENTECOST

The feast of Pentecost was observed in all the local Catholic churches yesterday morning on the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the apostles. Vespers were held at the various masses and processions were held in a number of the churches in observance of the occasion.

Especially impressive were the services at the Immaculate Conception church where a procession was held in the evening. Vespers services were celebrated at 6:30 and the procession followed, with members of the Immaculate Conception sodality, both branches of the Children of Mary sodality, altar boys and clergy members participating. During the services a class of 125 children, who had received their first communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass, were consecrated to the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Virgin.

Next Sunday the annual May procession of St. Michael's parish will be held.

At 8:30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday 150 children received their first communion.

Behind the museum tower rises the dome of Napoleon's tomb.

LECTURES ON VENICE IN WHISTLER HOUSE

Venice, its shrines and art treasures were described in a talk in the Whistler house by Miss Gertrude Sanderson of Littleton, Saturday afternoon. Water color pictures and pen sketches were shown by the speaker. Songs suggestive of life on the canals and lagoons of the "Bride of the Adriatic" were sung by Mrs. George H. Spaulding with Arthur C. Spaulding as accompanist. There were violin selections by Miss Edna Dixon.

Charles Hopkinson, some of whose pictures are now on exhibition in the Whistler house, is to give a talk on art subjects in the house tomorrow evening. A meeting of the art association for the election of officers will also be held. The meeting is to start at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Hopkinson will begin his talk at 8:15 p. m.

RAIDS AND FIRES IN LIVERPOOL

Six Houses in Widely Separated Parts of City Raided and Burned

Many Inmates of Houses Bound and Gagged—Report Women Attacked

LIVERPOOL, May 16—Six houses in widely separated parts of this city were raided and set on fire by parties unknown last night. The occupants of every house thus visited have relatives serving in the Royal Irish constabulary. The inmates were in some cases gagged and bound, and the furniture was drenched with kerosene and set on fire, and in some instances the helpless people were left to the mercy of the flames by the raiders, who fled in automobiles.

The raids were in all ways similar to those made in suburban districts of London and in this city Saturday night. The police declared yesterday that the raids on Saturday night were apparently well organized, and that in most cases the men engaged in them were disguised.

One house that was raided was occupied by Mrs. Jennings, a widow, and her daughter. The latter opened the door when there was a knock, and she was seized by the throat by the intruder. She struggled and tried to call for help, but was gagged and then bound, and then rained. The women were too terrified to raise an alarm.

In another house were three sisters who were overawed by a dozen men, who displayed revolvers and threatened to shoot them if they stirred. The men then looted the furniture and fled. A neighbor saw the flames, and upon going to the house found the women cowering in flames from fire that had been set in the bedding. Firemen arrived in time to save the building. Two men who tried to seize the fleeing raiders were stabbed, but were not seriously injured.

In another house a man 70 years of age, was attacked and beaten with a poker. He was then gagged and bound, and clothing and bedding was piled on the floor and ignited. The man's aged wife collapsed, but he, while bound, managed to struggle to a police station and give an alarm.

A retired sailor named Wilson grappled with a raider when his home was entered, and in spite of his 77 years, threw the intruder to the floor and held him until another raider placed a revolver at the old man's head and threatened to kill him. Wilson thereupon abandoned the struggle, but his terror attacked the raiders and prevented them from setting fire to the house. When the raiders ran the dog chased them but was shot dead.

A sailor named Bratford refused to throw up his hands when men broke into his house but threw a small sewing machine at the intruder, who fled, firing several shots as they left the house. None of the raiders has been arrested.

Many Killings in Ireland

number of other persons were killed Saturday and yesterday in attacks and counter-attacks at various places. Numerous persons were wounded.

Record For Violence

More lives may have been lost in the Macroom ambush, when 17 auxiliaries were killed, or on "Red Sunday," but for general and organized violence Saturday and yesterday probably were the worst since shootings on a large scale were inaugurated in January, 1920.

All the casualties except one occurred in the area covered by the southern parliament. The exception was at Dromore, Tyrone, where a Sinn Féin was shot dead.

Miss Harrington was travelling with two other women and Inspector Major Rices and a military officer when she was killed. The military officer was wounded.

Constable Bridges was shot dead and two other constables were wounded while purchasing groceries Saturday at Drumcollogher. A party of police going to their relief was fired upon and two of the policemen were wounded slightly.

Tech Student Shot By Burglar

CAMBRIDGE, May 16.—John B. King of Washington, D. C., a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was twice wounded early today by a supposed burglar, whom he had found in his room in Drayton hall. King said he was awakened by a noise in the adjoining room of his brother, Gilbert King, a Harvard student who was absent overnight. In seeking the cause of the noise, he encountered the intruder. They grappled and King said he was getting the better of the man when he was shot twice. His wounds, in the shoulder and thigh, were not considered serious. His assailant escaped through a window by which he had apparently entered.

400 Laid Off at Boston Navy Yard

BOSTON, May 16.—The working force at the Boston navy yard was further depleted today when 400 men, most of them employees in the hull division, were furloughed. It was said that there was no indication when they would be taken back. The furlough is for two weeks and if a man is not recalled at the end of that period, he is automatically discharged. Some of those laid off today had been in the yard 20 years.

Three Boys Drown at Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., May 16.—Three 17-year-old boys were drowned in the Connecticut river yesterday when their canoe capsized. One, Joseph Carbone, was an office boy for the Hartford Courant. The others were Salvatore Carpentiere and Salvatore Picard. The accident happened about 3 o'clock. Grappling irons were used shortly afterward, but none of the bodies had been recovered late last night. It is reported that the boys could not swim and that they were inept with paddles.

Report Bank Shortage of $400,000

TUSCOLA, Ill., May 16.—Warrants were issued here today for the arrest of John S. Quirk, cashier of the Arcola State bank at Arcola, Ill., near here, and for his father, M. T. Quirk, vice president, after the bank had been closed by State Bank Examiner Whitlock following a reported shortage of $400,000. The warrants were sent to Arcola to be served. The bank was closed today at the request of T. E. Lyons, one of the vice presidents, and of the board of directors to permit an audit.

Express Deliberately Derailed

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 16.—Investigation of the wreck last night of the Chicago and Alton "Hummer," in which a score of persons were injured, indicated that this fast train between Chicago and Kansas City was deliberately derailed, according to railroad officials who today conducted an inquiry here.

Says Troops Still Needed in W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 16.—Governor Morgan of West Virginia said today that federal troops were needed as badly as ever in the mining battle zone. "The truce evidently means nothing," he said, "and I cannot see that the situation is greatly changed one way or the other."

NASHUA MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

As a result of a head-on collision between a motorcycle and an automobile, which occurred Saturday night at the junction of Dunbar avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard, Joseph Bigard of 16½ Canal street, Nashua, N. H., is in a serious condition at the Lowell in a general hospital. The young man is suffering from a fractured rib and punctured lung as well as other internal injuries.

Bigard was on his way home on his motorcycle after visiting his mother in Hildreth street, this city, and when he reached the junction of Dunbar avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard an automobile operated by Frank Couture of 731 Essex street, Lawrence, came in sight and the two machines collided. The motorcycle was demolished, while the automobile was badly damaged. Bigard was placed in an automobile truck and rushed to the hospital.

WAS KNOCKED OUT IN FIRST ROUND

A wallon on the countenance stretched Thomas Thomas on the hard pavement, smashing two of his teeth in an argument over 25 cents. It was testified in the police court this morning when Napoleon Kefaleas paid a $10 fine for assault and battery on Thomas. The defendant told the court that he had espoused the cause of a little newsboy, to whom he contended Thomas owed the sum mentioned above. "He raised his hand and I raised my hand," said the defendant, who admitted pushing Thomas so that he went down for a goal.

But he insisted that Thomas addressed to him profane epithets. The defendant said that he paid the "poor boy" his 25 cents. The complainant exhibited the remains of his teeth, accused Kefaleas of lying in wait for him, and told of being smitten with such mighty force that he measured his length on the sidewalk. Result: a fine for Kefaleas, who paid it smilingly.

contribution of $500 from Humphrey O'Sullivan together with several other substantial special gifts helped to swell the Lowell total appreciably.

The delay day held Saturday was a success in every respect, and the amount raised by the scores of young women canvassers will form a material part of the Lowell quota.

Dr. Tighe wishes to clean up the campaign this evening if possible and urges all those who have not yet made their contribution to do so at his office in Wyman's exchange tonight.

Next Friday evening a group of young women of St. Michael's parish, known as the "Bluebirds," will conduct a dancing party in the Grange hall, Dracut, to redeem a pledge made by them to the fund some time ago.

The officers of the club are: President, Helen Conley; secretary, Agnes Farrell; and treasurer, Janette Metcalfe. The parish totals at the present time show St. Patrick's in the lead. The standing is as follows:

St. Patrick's $10,011; St. Peter's $5500; St. Michael's $4336.25; St. Margaret's $2725; Immaculate Conception, $1512; St. Mary's, Collinsville, $573; Sacred Heart, $240; St. Columba's, $116.50; St. Andrew's, North Billerica, $352; St. Louis, $200.

Among the special gifts which have been received in addition to Humphrey O'Sullivan's $500 contribution are the following: Hugh Molloy, $500; Rev. M. C. Gilman, $300; Rev. Francis L. GAVE SOCIETY BENEFIT

Entertainment in Aid of Society That is Doing Good Work

The St. Joseph's parish branch of the St. Vincent de Paul society of this city established a record in raising funds and lending a helping hand to the poor of its parish. This statement was made last evening at the Academy of Music by Rev. L. N. Bachand, O. M. I., to an audience of over 700, the occasion being the presentation of a musical comedy for the benefit of the society. The reverend gentleman did not go into the details of the work of the society, but said the organization was second to none in this section and he complimented the officers of the branch for their excellent work and he extended his thanks to the large audience for their presence and to the women who took part in the play, saying the cause was a very worthy one.

The play produced was "Les Bohemiennes," a most delightful sketch, presented in a very clever manner. The plot centered around a young girl, the daughter of a countess, who, while a tot, was kidnapped by a band of gypsies. Several years later while a hand of gypsies was camping in the home town of the countess, a bright-eyed girl attracted the attention of the noble woman, who, in an endeavor to forget her lost child, adopted her. Later the identity of the girl was disclosed and a happy reunion between mother and daughter took place.

The production was given under the personal direction of Rev. Fr. Bachand, O. M. I., who was highly complimented for the success achieved. Those who took part were Miss Angeline Itin, Miss Blanche Levesque, Miss Caroline Desautels, Miss Claire Dubois, Miss Jeannette Chevalier, Miss Georgianna Desrosiers, Miss Antoinette Montmarquet, Miss Juliet Vincent, Miss Yvonne Montmarquet, Miss Arthemise Rollin, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Miss Marquerite Turgeon, Miss Elizabeth Lachapelle, Miss Blanche Montmarquet and Miss Cecile Morin.

Mrs. Smith played the part of the kidnapped girl in a very clever manner, and her work was given due recognition by the appreciative audience. Miss Antoinette Montmarquet in the comic role kept her audience in a happy mood. Special mention should also be given Miss Angeline Itin, who sustained the role of the countess. Miss Turgeon who is possessed of a pleasing soprano voice delighted the audience with her vocal selections.

Between the acts a delightful musical program was given. Mr. Rodolphe Janson, of LaPlance, a grand opera singer, rendered two selections and was warmly applauded. The violin duets by P. Bergeron and R. Nault were pleasing, while the musical selections by a quartet composed of Miss Beatrice Richard, piano; Miss Antoinette Richard, guitar; Miss Rachel Richard, banjo; and Miss Beatrice Kelly, violin, were highly appreciated. Another very pleasing number was the selections by a vocal quartet composed of Miss Stella Latour, Miss Blanche Larue, Mrs. B. A. Pichette and Messrs. Archie Lavallee and Fred Venner. The accompanists were Miss Antoinette Dion, Miss Della Thibault and Miss Lena B. Camille.

Among the clergymen present were Very Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O. M. I., Rev. Leon Lamotte, O. M. I., Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. I., Rev. Charles Penzot, O. M. I., Rev. Athanasius Marion, O. M. I., Rev. E. J. Carrier, O. M. I. and others. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, president of the particular council of all the local branches of the St. Vincent de Paul society, was a special guest at the performance.

The ushers were Messrs. Dewey Archambault, J. A. N. Chretien, Arthur L. Eco, Roderick Jodoin, E. Lemire, Hector McDonald, Herve D. Parthenais, Arthur Pelletier, Raoul Richard, Victor Rochette, Joseph Schiller, Arthur Turcotte and Napoleon Vincent.

P.M.C.E. SOCIETY
The regular monthly meeting of the Lawrence Street P.M.C.E. society was held Friday evening, May 13, at the church vestry. It was voted to open the picnic season with a truck ride on May 30. After several important matters were brought before the society and considered, the meeting adjourned. Everyone present enjoyed a social time after which refreshments were served by the social committee.

bush last night at Ballyvaughan, four miles from Galway, County Galway. The victims were District Inspector Blake and his wife, Captain Cornwallis and Lieut. McCrory. The captain and the lieutenant were attached to the 17th lancers.

The party was riding in a motor car when it was ambushed by 40 men. Military and police reinforcements sent to the scene were fired upon and one constable was seriously wounded.

O'Brien Executed

CORK, May 16.—Daniel O'Brien of Knockardane, Liscarril, County Cork, who was tried by drumhead court-martial Saturday, was executed in the Cork detention barracks today. He met death bravely, maintaining the same attitude that he displayed at his trial, when in answering the request to plead, he replied: "I have no defense; I was caught as a soldier and you can try me."

A few women in the vicinity of the prison offered prayers as the execution was carried out. O'Brien was attended by a priest yesterday.

"BROKE," BUT SPURNED DROWNING MAN'S OFFER OF $500 TO LET HIM SINK

NEW YORK, May 16.—Spurning $500 offered by a drowning man if he would let him sink, Harry Green, negro, knocked Mission Harbor unconscious and carried him to shore early today.

Penniless and without a home, Green lay on the Erie docks at the foot of Duane street. He saw a man shed his coat and jump. He followed until the man's head appeared, then caught him by the hair.

"I want to die," Green said the man shouted. "Let me go and take $500 from my belt."

"I don't see how I could collect if he drowned, so I saved him," Green told the police.

This shows what a fool you were," Baron is reported to have said to Green as he unwound from his waist a belt containing $500. Baron told police that he had paid a large sum for a coat and hat checking privilege in an uptown cafe, but that since prohibition laws became effective, business had slumped and he stood to lose.

THE CONNECTING LINK

Hearing on Extension of Highway Between Lowell and Dracut

Providing the county will contribute its share of the cost of the work, the connecting link between the state highway in Broadway, Dracut, and the Pawtucket boulevard, via Riverside street in Lowell and Pleasant street in Dracut, will be finished this year. This was brought out at a hearing held this morning at the court house in Gorham street before the commissioners on a petition asking for the relocation and specific repairs to Pleasant street. In the course of the hearing it was stated by Bert A. Cluff, chairman of the board of selectmen for Dracut, that the link would complete the highway from Nashua to Haverhill and the beaches along the North shore.

Chairman Cluff explained that the town has already appropriated a certain amount for the work, but more money is needed and he urged the commissioners to do their "bit." Fred A. Bassett, a member of the highway committee for the town, said the plans call for the relocation of the street and the widening of the bridge over the brook near the plant of the Merrimack Woolen Co. in Pleasant street. He said the town has appropriated $5,000 for the work, but a similar amount will be needed to complete the job. He stated that the town would have to take a small piece of land on the easterly side of the bridge and would have to pay the owners, while on the westerly side of the structure the land is owned by the Merrimack Woolen Co., which is willing to donate it to the town. There were others who spoke in favor of the petition and the matter was taken under advisement.

Chelmsford Hearing
Residents of Chelmsford were also given a hearing on their petition for specific repairs to Carlisle street, the chairman of the board of selectmen, William Bevilacqua, Mr. Cassidy, H. D. Quinn, E. R. Finnick and others spoke at length in favor of the project, pointing out that the road is in bad condition and a menace to school children. No action was taken by the commissioners.

The third hearing was on a petition of residents of Tyngsboro for the relocation of the old Nashua road and Hudson road in Tyngsboro. Speaking in favor of the petition were Fred L. Snow of the board of selectmen and Claude A. Bell. They stated that the town has appropriated the sum of $500 for the work and that a similar amount will be needed to carry out the plans. The matter was taken under advisement.

HELD IN TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS BOND

"Two thousand dollars bond," was Justice Knight's decision after he had heard testimony in relation to the case of Joseph F. Silva, charged with drunkenness and with assault and battery on his wife, and whose case was continued to May 26. The assault occurred last August and Silva is in a dangerous condition as the result of her husband's attack. It was stated by the defendant's daughter, a long time ago, was produced by the arresting officers and was said to have been yielded by Silva after he had done violence to his wife.

Attractive Massachusetts suitings, exported to the East and West Indies and South America, are also shown.

Suggests the Summer Time

There are interesting exhibits by the Lowell Hosiery company and the Shawmut Stocking company. The latter exhibit shows woolen, mercerized and plaided silk over mercerized stockings.

The joys of the "good old summer time" come to mind as the display of the Lowell Hosiery company is inspected. Here are washable neckties of a number of attractive designs. These, a label states, are used all over the United States and some are exported to the Philippines.

Fabrics for belting and suspenders are shown in the exhibit of T. Martin and Brother Manufacturing company. A feature of the exhibit is a display of narrow fabrics into which names have been woven as neatly as though printed from type.

Slumber joys are again brought to mind when the space is reached that is given up to the samples of products of the Tremont & Suffolk mills. Here are soft and enticing cotton flannels with wool finish and outing flannels and Shaker flannel, suitable for pajamas and kimonas. The coloring of some of the samples is very effective. There are also samples of cotton suiting that are sold in the South American trade.

Cotton flannels in delicate wash shades are shown by the Hamilton Manufacturing company. These are suitable for slumber garments of one sort or another. "Maple Leaf" flannels for slumber robes. BIG SUMS AVAILABLE FOR ROAD BUILDING

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Approximately $2,000,000 is available every working day during the present year for expenditure upon highways of the United States, according to a statement today by Prof. C. J. Tilden, director of the highway and highway transportation education committee. The actual sum available from state and county bond issues and federal aid for the year is $600,000,000, a sum 50 per cent. greater than the total cost of the Panama canal, according to figures obtained from the bureau of public roads.

This point was made by Professor Tilden in stressing the need for more courses in highway construction and economics in colleges and universities. To spend this amount wisely, he said, would require the services of more than 10,000 trained highway engineers. At this time, universities are graduating only about 1000 civil engineers annually, of whom only a small percentage turn to highway construction. The supply is far short of the demand, according to Prof. Tilden.

Through the agency of the committee of which he is director, Prof. Tilden is endeavoring to persuade institutions of higher learning to include courses in highway economics in their regular curriculums. Prof. Tilden occupies the chair of engineering mechanics at Yale university, but is on leave as director of the committee.

Another and more popular campaign is being undertaken by the committee by means of a national essay contest among high school pupils on the subject, "Good Roads and Highway Transportation." Several hundred letters of inquiry are received daily from all sections of the country. Even the islands and possessions and the territories are seeking information on the contest.

News of the contest has been conveyed to pupils by their teachers and school superintendents in response to an announcement sent out by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, who is chairman of the highway transportation committee. Essays must be not more than 500 words in length

DAILY SCIENCE SERVICE

The Secret of the Use of Radium on Watch Dials Is Explained

BY HAMILTON FOLEY

Of the 18.5 grams of high purity radium produced by the Standard Chemical company of Pittsburgh, during 1920, President James C. Gray permitted only 1.2 grams to be used for commercial purposes.

This concern refines seven-twelfths of the world's supply of radium.

How such expensive material as radium may be used on the dials of comparatively inexpensive watches, for example, is mystifying to people generally.

The luminous material on watch and clock dials is a combination of a most minute portion of real radium and a specially prepared zinc sulphide.

If one of these dials be examined by a good reading glass, in the dark, the luminous material will be seen to be seething with tiny flashes of light. These flashes are caused by the explosions of the atoms in the minute portion of real radium in the mixture. These atoms have been found to be so small that 250,000,000 of them probably would be required to cover one inch.

As each atom explodes, a particle flies from it as a projectile from a gun. These particles are too small to be seen under the most powerful microscope. But scientists have found that when one of these particles is suddenly stopped by striking a crystal of zinc sulphide, the heat is sufficient to make a flash of light the eye can see. These are the flashes seen under a good reading glass.

The flashes occur at the rate of 200,000 a second on the average luminous dial of the average watch bought in commercial routine. It is the combined light of all the flashes of light seen under the reading glass that makes the light or glow that makes the dial visible in the dark without a reading glass.

The brightness and durability of a radium luminous dial depends on the number of these tiny flashes per second. The more radium, the more flashes and the brighter the dial.

But every flash means a blow upon a crystal of zinc sulphide. These crystals cannot stand these blows indefinitely. They break down under them, and when this happens, there are no more flashes and the dial loses its glow. The zinc has failed, not the radium.

One 1-25th of 1 per cent. of any quantity of radium disintegrates or is lost in a year.

The quantity of radium on the average watch dial is not more than about one-millionth of a gram.

and must be in the hands of local committees not later than June 15, when the contest closes. Only pupils of high school grade are eligible to compete. Virtually all state superintendents are naming state committees to award state honors and prizes, and are announcing the contest to their pupils. Commissioner Claxton will name the national committee which will award the main prize.

As a means of encouraging pupils to write essays, the committee requested one of its members, H. S. Firestone, Akron, Ohio, to offer a national prize. Mr. Firestone put up a four years' university scholarship, with a value of not less than $4000, as the award for the best essay written on this subject.

A similar contest held last year resulted in approximately 200,000 essays being written. The Firestone scholarship was awarded Miss Katharine F. Butterfield, 16 year old high school girl of Weiser, Idaho.

PIRATE'S MORALS ARE OUT OF DATE

This is the first of four articles, important alike to business man and consumer, written by Chairman Thompson for The Sun.

BY HUSTON THOMPSON
Chairman, Federal Trade Commission

When Woodrow Wilson was governor of New Jersey he met a prominent Bull-Mooser in the dining car of a train. In the course of their conversation, the Bull-Mooser expressed the opinion that the main function of government was to insure complete freedom of action for every individual.

"No," replied the governor, "the main function of government is to see that some individuals do not have too much freedom of action."

In this bit of repartee on the part of Mr. Wilson, there is the germ of a very important economic truth: the freedom of the many will take care of itself if a fair and reasonable restraint of the very few is enforced. In every walk of life there may be found the small minority who cling to the pirate's business morals, the principle of the survival of the fittest by fair means or foul. As in the days of piracy on the high seas, such methods and practices make for terror and confusion and lead to reprisals and a general disruption of fair business.

It was in the hope of restoring confidence to the honest business world that the mechanism of the federal trade commission was conceived.

The commission lends itself to the picture of the watchman on the ancient city wall, whose duty it was to keep the public informed of passing events concerning their interests. It gathers and compiles information concerning corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and makes public such information (except trade secrets and names of customers,) as it deems expedient in the public interest. It serves as a "Stop, Look and Listen" sign in the midst of the busy market place.

The general welfare of the public has become a factor of vastly greater importance to the present generation than it was in pioneer days. Amidst the simple community life of days gone by, the individual could safeguard his own interests. Out of social conditions in the days of our forefathers there grew up the doctrine of "ravage empire"—let the buyer beware!

It was fair enough in its day, when the average buyer could keep his weather eye open for the spavined horse, the gold brick proposition, or the lightning rod salesman.

But that day is long since gone. A few years ago, we bought our groceries in bulk. They were weighed and measured before our eyes. Today, they are sold in a more sanitary manner, conveniently packed in cartons, ready to be delivered.

But who knows whether the weight and measure are accurate, or even how the contents may appear when opened? The buyer takes his goods on faith.

Suppose the housewife enters the corner grocery and asks for a pound of butter. One pound is presumed to contain 16 ounces. Our housewife frequently receives a pasteboard box containing 15 ounces of butter, and is seriously ignorant of the inconspicuous words on the carton, "Fifteen ounces net weight."

Perhaps she should have taken the precaution of reading all the printed matter before buying. Perhaps the package was wrapped before she had an opportunity to examine it. Or if she were one of the many millions in this country who cannot read, the printed matter would have been of little warning. At any rate, she has paid for a pound of butter and has received 15 ounces.

This is but one of the many devices found all over the world in the packing of goods of all kinds. (Next article—"Trade Frauds in Ancient Babylon.")

SEMI-DRESS

A fancy of the semi-decolletage is tulle draping. On some of the smarter gowns it is drawn around the bodice in a straight line and allowed to stand quite upright, veiling even the upper neck and chin. Such an effect adds the softness of youth.

SUGARED FRUIT

Occasionally the best of housewives have a can of jelly or preserves which goes to sugar. It can be used to sweeten dried fruit which is being cooked and will add a delightful variance of flavor.

The yak, or woolly ox, of Tibet, is raised in Alaska and the Yukon country. The yak has been domesticated for centuries and its haunts are the snow-covered highlands of Tibet, thousands of feet above the sea. The animal eats a coarse dry grass and compares favorably with range cattle in weight. The wool and hide are also valuable.

ZIPPY ZEBRA'S STORY

ZIPPY LOOKED EVER SO SURPRISED. "WHY IT ISN' ANY SECRET, I'M SURE, HE ANSWERED"

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Of course, by the time Zippy Zebra said "hooray" to Mrs. Ostrich, she thought that her young friend with the stripes had suddenly gone crazy. She went over and nudged her husband with her wing and pointed at Zippy and said she suspected all along that something was wrong with him.

But Mr. Ostrich said "Nonsense!" and strode right over to Zippy and demanded to know what he meant by talking of slippers and shoes and boots and things the way he was doing.

Zippy looked ever so surprised. "Why it isn't any secret, I'm sure," he answered. "I'll tell you all about it."

Nancy and Nick and Flippity-Flap behind the bobab-bush leaned forward to listen, for they, too, wished to know exactly what Zippy had been talking about.

"The slipper, I spoke of," explained Zippy, "was a great golden one drawn by eight brown ponies (and sometimes someone else) in the circus parade. It was called 'Cinderella's Slipper,' and a lovely maiden drove it."

"And the shoe?" asked Mrs. Ostrich, curiously.

"That was golden, too," answered Zippy. "It was called the Old Woman's Shoe" and was drawn by eight milky white ponies (and sometimes someone else besides), driven by a woman in a gray wig. A dozen children got a ride in the top."

"But the boot! You spoke of a boot!"

Zippy nodded. "It was a great golden one and was drawn by eight coal black ponies (and sometimes someone else). A man dressed like a gray cat drove them. Over the top was a sign, 'Puss-in-Boots.'"

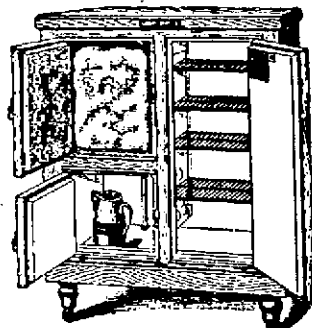

"He didn't mean us, after all," whispered Flippity-Flap to the twins.

But Mrs. Ostrich was still curious. "Who was the someone else?" she wanted to know.

"I was," answered Zippy Zebra.

WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD DO WHEN SHE IS WEAK AND NERVOUS

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE SUR-PRISINGLY INCREASED THEIR STRENGTH, ENERGY AND ENDURANCE
IN TWO WEEKS TIME BY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms, which are often produced by iron starvation of the blood, the sufferer frequently never suspects the real cause of her trouble but thinks she has some other ailment. As a result of iron starvation you may suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath or heart palpitation, pains across the back, loss of memory, weak will power, melancholy or the "blues," disturbed digestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats and so on. In such cases do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration but eat more spinach and green vegetables and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic iron like Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of substitutes. Look for the name "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N.I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

WORK EXHIBIT AT THE MOREY SCHOOL

First a vocal selection and then the actual, honest-to-goodness baking of biscuits, right in front of your eyes on the stage, ladies and gentlemen. Another song, and then a "demonstration" of pinning a patch on striped material. The foregoing conveys a hint of the novel nature of the exhibit of work processes, under class room conditions, to be held at the Morey school all this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Home Economics clubs of the school will provide the unusual entertainment, which will include the following program: Girls' report on work done; song, by clubs, "Keep the Needle Flying"; secretary's report of the breadmaking project; song, by clubs, "I'm Forever Baking Biscuits"; demonstration, baking powder biscuits, Cynthia Carr; baking powder (etc.) experiments, Betty MacBrayne; song, by clubs, "Oh, Bring Your Mother's Bread Board"; dance, Eleanor Ross, state clubs song; roll-call of garmentmaking project; song, "Slumber Boat"; Grotto McPherson; demonstration, pinning a patch on striped material, Ernestine Brigham; club song (original).

Twenty-three compose the membership of the organization, and they meet twice a month, as well as having many special classes. They are also pledged to 30 hours of home housework each month, together with a specified amount of cooking and sewing. For this afternoon's demonstration, a gas range, fully equipped, has been placed in position on the stage of the hall, and here the young ladies, adorned in caps and aprons, will reveal their culinary skill. The organization is the product of activities of the United States department of Agriculture, besides the state college at Amherst. State officials of the state educational institution will be present. Teachers in charge of the event are Misses Anna Coffey, Minnie Gray, Leonora Battles and Mary Foss.

LOWELL IRON WORKER HAD A STARTLING EXPERIENCE LATELY, TELLS ABOUT IT

Mr. Fred La Comb of 297 Dutton Street, Lowell, Was a Very Sick Man Until the Tonic CINOT Came to His Assistance

"I'll say that CINOT is a great Remedy," said Mr. La Comb, "and I am willing to say a good word for it. I had gastritis and couldn't eat anything and when I did I felt badly for it. Gas would be on my stomach all the time and I could not get rid of it and it is a very uncomfortable feeling to have. One day while suffering from a bad attack of indigestion I heard of CINOT and saw where it had helped people who had the same symptoms that I had suffered with so I got a bottle. The effects of this Remedy have been startling and I am pleased with the results and I have not had a stomach attack since I used it and you can put me down as a real CINOT booster." CINOT is being demonstrated in Lowell by an expert at Down's drug store and is for sale by all druggists everywhere.—Adv.

This Ice Machine Gives the Correct Weight Every Time

M. J. ULANE, TOLEDO, DEMONSTRATING HOW HIS INVENTION SIMPLIFIES THE WORK OF THE ICEMEN AND DOES AWAY WITH WEIGHT GUESSING.

A machine that does away with short weight, waste and guessing by the iceman has been perfected by M. J. Ulane. He is manager of the Maumee Ice and Storage Corp. of Toledo.

As the blocks of ice come from freezing tanks they are pulled up a chute on an endless chain into this machine.

One saw makes a longitudinal cut. Then the ice is dropped through saws that make vertical cuts four inches deep. This divides the block into sections of 25 pounds.

The iceman making deliveries from the wagon gives the block a slight jab with his pick in the cracks marking the desired weight. The block of ice is cut without waste and without guesswork. No chips.

Ulane plans to sell the machines for $2000 each. He considered the idea for years, but worked out the plans in 90 days.

SPRING AILMENTS

Impure Blood, Humors.—Relief in a Good Medicine.

Spring ailments are due to impure, thin, devitalized blood. Among them are pimples, boils, other eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, nervousness and "all run-down" conditions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the roots, barks, herbs, berries and other medicinal plants that have been found in many years of intelligent observation to be most effective in the treatment of these ailments.

Successful physicians prescribe the same ingredients for diseases of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and in cases where alternative and tonic effects are needed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the spring medicine that purifies, enriches and revitalizes your blood, increasing power of resistance to disease.

For a laxative take Hood's Pills.

USE BALLOON OF U. S. AIRMEN FOR CANOE

COCHRANE, Ont., May 16.—Some wonderful canoes appeared mysteriously recently in the James Bay region. They were constructed out of birch bark, but of a strange material the north had never seen. As light and swift as swallows on the wing, they skimmed the water. Moose Factory Indians marveled. Had the great spirit come from the happy hunting grounds to teach his red children new medicine?

The big balloon that carried three of Uncle Sam's navy aviators into the wilderness several months ago has since lain collapsed on the spot where it descended. Officials of Moose Factory, one of the earliest posts established on American shores by the Hudson Bay company had given orders to all the Indians who own allegiance to the ancient fur company, to leave the great gasbag undisturbed. These orders had been strictly observed.

A band of outlaw Indians, whose home village is sixty miles northwest of Moose Factory, found the balloon. Old Hudson Bay company's order meant nothing to them. As for Uncle Sam, they had never heard of him. But they knew good canoe material when they saw it and straightaway with their hunting knives they sliced great blanket pieces from the sides of the fallen monster and from the magic fabric fashioned canoes that rode the waves like a thistle-down. The air had given the northland their most marvelous craft.

The Indians who wrecked Uncle Sam's gasbag are known as photo-craats of the wilderness. While on a recent visit, the chief of the outlaws was asked if he were not afraid of getting into trouble for cutting up a balloon belonging to the great republic across the border. With a shrug,

HIS "ANNUAL"

It took two keepers with stiff brushes and a ladder to give Teddy, New York zoo elephant, his annual bath. He's 9 feet 5 inches tall.

he drew from his pocket a roll of money that would have made a rent hog jealous. He was ready to deal with Uncle Sam as one man with another. "How much cost for big bag?" he asked indifferently. "Me buy the tam thing now and pay spot cash."

SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time. I was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NEW AND DISTINCT TYPE OF CRIMINAL

PITTSBURGH, May 16.—A new and distinct type of criminal is supplanting the old class of outlaws, detectives and criminologists representing 350 agencies, were told here recently when plans were perfected to form the International secret service association. This new class, while far more bold and daring, lacks the ingenuity of the old-time criminal, it is said. Where criminals in the past indulged in counterfeiting, forgery and swindling games that required patience to execute, the newer and younger generation, ranging in age from 17 to 24, specialize in bank and mail robberies, train holdups, payroll thefts and other daring crimes, speakers declared.

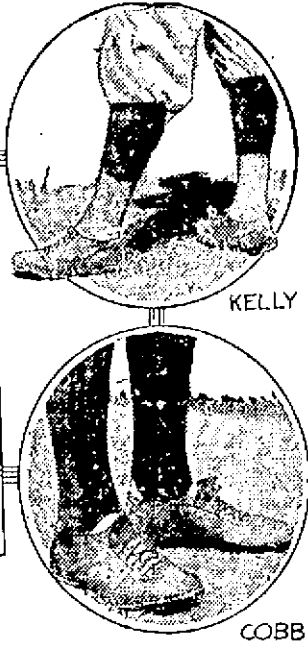

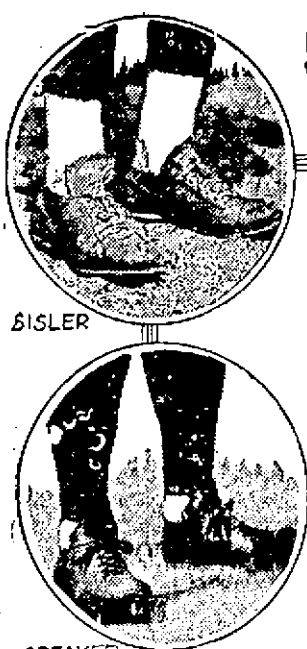

With the object in view of combatting these criminals, the association, tentatively formed at Chicago last March, was organized formally here. The organization includes nearly every detective agency of importance in the United States and will maintain offices in foreign countries. A clearing house will be established at Philadelphia through which members may obtain information gathered by individual effort and with the co-operation of state and municipal authorities.

The officers elected at the Pittsburgh meeting follow: J. B. Taylor, Philadelphia, president; F. E. Boko, first vice president, Toronto, Canada; John E. Ferris, second vice president, Milwaukee; F. H. Smiley, Chicago, secretary, and James P. Quigley, Indianapolis, treasurer.

Desiring to improve the health, and the life chances of children, Portland, Oregon, is planning to observe a "well babies' week."

SPORTING NEWS-BOXING-BASEBALL-BOWLING

Trained Feet Make Baseball Supers

BY DEAN SNYDER
Trained feet are the most valuable assets a ball player has.

If they aren't trained, all the baseball ability in the world from the feet up won't make a star out of him.

Diamond chatters are sold by the head, but it is the feet that score the runs that win the games.

One of the first things a big league manager asks himself when he looks over a player on the minor markets is, "How much do his feet know?"

When he sees how the youngster handles his feet at the plate he gets a line on just how good a hitter that rookie is or is likely to become.

If his feet act as if they knew something when facing a pitcher there is hope. If the feet behave badly the odds are against the owner ever buying him.

Some feet can be quickly trained. Others can't.

The minor leagues are a school for training feet as well as heads and eyes and arms.

The feet of Babe Ruth—the King—are worth thousands to him at the bat. They work with his arms and legs like the hands of a clock.

As a fielder, Babe's feet aren't so well trained. This year with Bambino growing up a 200-pounder they have a heavy load to carry.

The feet of George Sisler are the best in baseball. They are 100 per cent accurate at bat and superb in the field.

George Kelly's under-planting is not a graceful. He stands with his feet apart when facing a pitcher. But his feet are getting results in spite of it.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Boston 11, St. Louis 7 (10 innings).
Detroit 10, Washington 10.
New York 5, Cleveland 2.
Chicago 7, Philadelphia 3.

GAMES TOMORROW
Boston at St. Louis.
New York at Cleveland.
Washington at Detroit.
Philadelphia at Chicago.

Movie Camera's a Pandora Box of Illusions

IMAGINATION GOES A LONG WAY IN THE MOVIES. DICK BARTHELMES IS REGISTERING AT THE GATE OF THE OLD HOMESTEAD. NOTICE THE FENCE AND THE HOLLYHOCK GARDEN? NEITHER DOES ANYONE ELSE. THE MAN IN THE ROCKING CHAIR IS GEORGE FITZMAURICE, DIRECTOR. THE MAN WORKING IS ARTHUR MILLER, CAMERA MAN.

BY JAMES W. DEAN

The prodigal son returns to the old homestead. It is an old-fashioned place with rustic fence and hollyhocks. The boy hesitates at the gate. His mother had died while he was away. He has increased not his talents in the great city.

He knows not whether to enter or sink away. A hard lump arises in his throat. He grasps the gate in tense grip.

It's all in a movie. The audience sighs. As the youth registers emotion in a close-up, throats of sympathetic spectators are constricted. Thus has a film illusion been effective, successful. For illusion it is.

The gate that shows in the close-up stands without support of fence or hollyhocks. The youth is not looking up at the old homestead. He is looking into the lens of a camera only a few feet away. He is supporting the gate as a director sits in a rocking chair in front of him watching and coaching. Mayhap a violinist nearby is helping him emot.

The sprig of hollyhock that lends atmosphere to the scene is more than likely made of paper-mache.

Many illusions are created by camera tricks, especially in comics. These tricks are generally recognized by the public.

The illusions created with studio properties are less frequently recognized by the film fans.

Thus the movie spectator lives in the atmosphere of the Orient, the jungles, the rural communities and the congested cities of our own country through ingenious construction and arrangements in the studios.

The incident of the prodigal son at the fenceless gate occurred in the filming of "Experience." Richard Barthelmess was the actor, George Fitzmaurice the director and Arthur Miller the camera man.

"Gypsy Blood"

The flexibility of the screen in portraying drama is shown in the American premier of "Gypsy Blood," German version of "Carmen."

In opera the bull fight is only suggested in song and costume. The real thing is depicted in the picture. The film is another demonstration of the thoroughness of Ernst Lubitsch, foremost German director. The star of the picture makes no separate entrance. She is first seen in a group of elegant girls. Thus it is on the stage.

Pola Negri, star of "Passion," has the part of Carmen.

Action of the film is free from the interruptions of close-ups.

At Studio Keyholes

Mary Pickford's "Through the Back Door," has been released. "The Hornet's Nest," Tom Mix's current release, was written by him. Darrell Foss supports Edith Roberts in "The Gossamer Web."

A bill for a censorship board was defeated in the Wisconsin senate 27 to 1.

Carmel Myers, having finished "The Scarlet Shawl," will make "The Black Cap" next.

Movie houses in Pomona, Cal., are giving free shows on Sunday to huck the blue laws.

Hobart Bosworth is producing "The Sea Lion" with Beesie Love, Emory Johnson and Jack Curtis in the cast. Richard Barthelmess is planning his own producing company. He is now in a New York hospital recovering from an operation on his ear.

A Spanish producer, advertising his film in English, says it is in "five rolls" and deals with scenes "in which are put the emotional scenes of a fight of bull."

SHOEWORKERS CONVEGE SEC. OF LABOR DAVIS

Union Heads Declare Retail Prices Have Not Declined in Proportion to Cuts

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—The assertion that retail prices have not declined in proportion to wholesale prices and that in consequence, the purchasing power of the wages of shoeworkers is less than before the war, was made by Collins Lovely and C. L. Haines, general president and general secretary-treasurer respectively, of the boot and shoe workers union, in their annual report presented at the union's convention today.

The report said that "while wholesale prices of the necessities of life are claimed to have declined 35 per cent, the decline in the retail price is only 17 per cent." Shoeworkers are in no mood to permit any wage changes that would make the day's work of a shoemaker buy less of the necessities or comforts of life than it would before the war," said the officials, adding that "some of the so-called experts who have relieved us undoubtedly would have secured had there been no war."

They declared that the union's general policy of arbitration "must continue to be the foundation of our success and our permanence in the future as in the past."

"We are aware that the attitude of some employers has caused some of our members to jump to the conclusion that a revolution to a policy of strikes is in order," they said. "To our minds, nothing could be more fatal to our success in the future."

"We see all around us labor fighting defensive battles. It is not unusual to see workers striking for the privileges of arbitration and some times losing. In general we have the right of arbitration secured to us by contract and without striking for it."

In reporting that four companies had repudiated their arbitration agreement with the union since the last convention, the officials told the convention that "the defection of these four concerns serves as the exception to prove the rule that most shoe manufacturers who contract with us have the same high standard of contract fulfillment that we aim to maintain."

"We believe they honestly desire to keep the collective bargaining and arbitration policy that our contract implies. We are therefore looking for the repudiation of those relations that have proved to be of least friction and of greatest efficiency, the keeping of our contracts with strict integrity must be our permanent policy in the future as it has been in the past."

Unemployment during the last year has resulted in "some diminution of revenue both locally and generally," the report said. "This was to be expected and together with the continued payment of benefits has reduced our general funds somewhat as well as to impair local finances in some cases."

SEC. OF LABOR DAVIS VISITS BOSTON

BOSTON, May 16.—Boston's importance as an immigration centre will probably be greatly increased as a result of the visit here of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis yesterday and today.

Mr. Davis came to Boston from Portland, Me., Sunday morning, accompanied by Commissioner-General of Immigration W. W. Husband and Arthur W. Hayden, the latter representing the Loyal Order of Moose of which Mr. Davis is governor-general. While in town Mr. Davis was the guest of the local lodges of the order.

Upon his arrival, the secretary of labor was met by Frank W. Sargent, the friend of Vice President Calvin Coolidge, and went to the Hotel Touraine, where he made his headquarters. Yesterday afternoon he made a trip to Deer Island on the steamer George A. Hubbard. In the party were the local commissioner of immigration, Henry I. Skiffington, Mr. Husband, Mr. Sargent, Mr. Hayden, John C. O'Brien, Boston commissioner of penal institutions, and Joe Mitchell Chapple.

"Mr. Husband and I have been making a general inspection of immigration stations," said Secretary of Labor Davis to a reporter after yesterday's trip. "Our intention is to enlarge the facilities we have visited Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Portland and are now in Boston."

"Ellis Island in New York is congested with deportation cases. They must have more room in New York, but cannot find it there, so we are going to try and make it here. We found plenty of room at Deer Island. What we are looking for particularly is a place to put deportation cases."

"If President Harding signs the three per cent immigration bill there will be 300,000 immigrants a year. During the past year they have been coming in at the rate of a million annually. Under the bill passed by congress there is a restriction put on the first three months. In the last nine months the number will probably be larger than ever before."

SUITS AGAINST CITY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Three suits against the city of Lowell were started at the civil session of the superior court in this city this morning, and all three have to do with the seizure of land by the city for the widening of Maiden lane, now called Cardinal O'Connell parkway. The plaintiffs are George C. Dempsey of Lowell and William P. Dempsey of Pawtucket, R.I., trustees of the will of Patrick Dempsey; Margaret Merrill and P. Dempsey and Co. The cases are being tried before Justice Hammond and one jury was empaneled for all three.

The plaintiffs allege that on or about November 15, 1915, the city of Lowell seized land and buildings located in or near Maiden lane, for the purpose of widening the thoroughfare, and that damages have not yet been awarded by the defendant because the plaintiffs have been offered sums less than damages sustained and that the plaintiffs and defendant have thus far been unable to agree upon damages. James J. Keenan and City Solicitor William D. Regan for the city.

REPORT SOCIALIST VICTORIES IN ITALY

ROME, May 16.—Reports of socialist successes at Turin, Florence and Bologna in the parliamentary elections held yesterday, have been received here, but constitutionalists believe that these last would hold a comfortable working majority in the next chamber of deputies. Their belief appeared to be based on fragmentary and unofficial figures from districts in Perugia, Naples, Palermo and other cities in the southern part of the peninsula.

Intense excitement reigned in many cities of the country yesterday, owing to the bitter feeling existing between the socialists and constitutionalists. There were quite serious riots in a number of Tuscan and Piedmontese cities.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

PARIS, May 16.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and J. Brugnon won the mixed doubles tennis championship of France yesterday, defeating Madame Billout and M. Deruiss in the final, 6-4, 6-1.

Madame Golding won the women's singles championship, defeating Madame Billout, 6-2, 6-2.

STOCK FOR EMPLOYEES

Plan to Have American Woolen Company Employees Become Shareholders

According to plans which are being prepared by the directors of the American Woolen Co. employees of the company will be given an opportunity within a few days to become shareholders in the corporation. This plan was broached at the 1920 annual meeting of the directors, but will not be put in force until perhaps another week. The matter will be presented to the employees of the various plants of the company in written form, but no one will be compelled to invest.

Each employee will be given the opportunity to subscribe for not more than 25 shares each of common stock and $5.50 per share, payments to be made at the definite rate of $1 per share per week, the said amount to be deducted from the weekly pay. Interest on unpaid balances will be 5 per cent.

It is provided that dividends shall be credited on stock subscription account, but they will not cancel regularly weekly payments. In the event of non-employment due to the mills being closed through lack of work, payments can be stopped until work is resumed, provided the employee live up to conditions of continuous service as defined by the company. Continuous service implies a willingness to return when work is resumed or at the request of the company.

An employee may cancel his subscription at any time and receive back what he paid in with interest. If he remains in the company for five years he will be entitled to a special payment of $12.50 per share on the basis of the current $7 dividend, and a special payment of $12.50 per share for five years, or $2.50 per share per annum, the net return to the employee subscriber to be 14 per cent.

The agents of the plants of the company in this city and surrounding towns have been informed that June 15 has been set as the time limit for the purchase of shares and they will pass this information along to their overseers. The local mills of the company are the Bay State Woolen Co., the Wamecet mills and the Ram's Head mills, while the Dracut plant of the company is known as the Beaver Brook mills.

DIES OF KNIFE WOUNDS

Gangster's Pal Found With Six Wounds Hanging on a Picket Fence

NEW YORK, May 16.—The death of one man in Brooklyn yesterday from knife wounds, and the discovery of another hanging on a picket fence a short distance away, stabbed six times, lead police to believe that the affair was the aftermath of an attempted hold-up in which the victims attacked their assailants.

John Larkin, known to the police as "Red Clutch" on account of a deformed arm, and John J. Brennan, were both found by the police within a few blocks of each other. Larkin, who was stabbed seven times, died shortly afterwards, while Brennan, who is suffering from six wounds, is not expected to live.

Larkin and Brennan were identified by Frank Castoro, the police asserted, as members of a gang who held up and robbed him a few hours before their bodies were found.

NEW LIQUOR RULE

Wholesale Druggists Now Handle All Withdrawals

BOSTON, May 16.—Permits of more than 500 wholesale liquor dealers in New England to distribute liquor from bonded warehouses for non-beverage purposes, expired at midnight last night in accordance with a recent ruling by Prohibition Commissioner Williams at Washington.

Thousands of former liquor dealers throughout the United States who have distributed millions of gallons of liquor since the Volstead act became effective can no longer distribute liquor to permit holders.

Wholesale druggists holding permits from the prohibition director and supervising agent in each district will in the future handle all liquor and spirits for medicinal, sacramental and scientific purposes.

"EUPHRAAT DAY"

Saturday will be "Euphrat Day" for the student and alumni bodies of Lowell Textile school. The affair, which will occupy the entire day with a general good time program, will take place at the Marina, rather club, located on the river beyond Tyngsboro. The school orchestra will be on hand to furnish the music for the event.

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 16.—Girls! Here's the very latest in hat decorating.

Miss Mary McConnell of this city, has made the scientific discovery that the tail of the "Scomber Japonicus," better known as a mackerel, can be used in trimming hats.

The fish is being widely adopted, says Miss McConnell, who is shown about with one of her fish-tail-decorated hats.

STILL OPPOSED TO CONTRACT WORK

The employees of the street department, most of whom are members of the Municipal Employees' union, have not relented in their opposition to having street work in Lowell done by contract. New arguments against the proposed method of doing local street work are constantly being brought forth and one of those which was discussed today and which did not come up at the hearing on the matter at city hall last Friday evening was the fact that the city does not have to make a profit on a street paving job, while that is the sole aim of a contractor in undertaking any job.

"It has been said," one of the members of the union remarked today, "that if paving work in Lowell is let out by contract the men who are not employed by the city will have to work at a lower wage. I believe that is true. It stands to reason that when a contractor takes a job he takes it with the idea of making money on it. The city does not have to make a profit and has just that much more money available. I believe that few people think that the men of the street department are overpaid under present conditions and few of them, especially those with families, could get along on the wages that would be paid by contractors. When it comes to a showdown between putting money in the pockets of out-of-town contractors and giving it to Lowell men whose families are depending on their labor for support, the general public will probably decide in favor of the street department employees."

TRAINS DERAILED

12 Killed, 50 Injured in Two Accidents in France

TOULOUSE, France, May 6.—Twelve persons were killed and 50 injured when two express trains, bound to this city from Paris, jumped the track Saturday night within a few miles of one another.

The fact that in each case the eight coaches were derailed and the locomotives and their tenders remained on the track, caused Minister of Public Works LaTourette to order an investigation.

In each instance, the coupling between the tender and the first coach snapped. M. Delmas, a member of the chamber of deputies, who was on board one of the trains, informed M. LaTourette yesterday that he would bring up the matter in the chamber of deputies.

There will be solo by Misses Ella Thomas and Caroline Urbanek.

The secretary of the navy has authorized the wearing, on stated occasions, of the frock coat, full dress trousers, cocked hat, dress sword and sword belt and epaulettes.

COUPLE LOSE LIVES

Man Killed and Wife Drowned When Their Auto Plunged Into Stream

FARMINGTON, N. H., May 16.—J. G. Coffin was killed and his wife was drowned yesterday when their automobile, driven by Mrs. Coffin, plunged into a stream at the approach to a bridge. The woman turned too far off the road in allowing a frightened horse to pass and lost control of the car.

She was alive when taken from the water, but died soon after. Medical authorities said Coffin had been killed instantly.

MAMMOTH SUN SPOT CAUSES DAMAGE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Interruption of telegraphic communication by electrical influences, if due to the presence of spots on the sun as set forth in the Brashear theory, will pass away within 48 hours in the belief of officials at the naval observatory here.

Spot 24,000 Miles Long

The present spot or group of spots on the face of the sun, estimated by naval observatory officials as 94,000 miles in length and 21,000 in latitude, was nearest the earth Saturday night, and yesterday through rotation of the sun was moving away from the solar meridian.

Naval observatory officials said yesterday that leaving out of consideration the decreasing effect of the spots on electrical currents on the earth through the usual breaking up of the spots, the regular rotation of the sun on its axis would within a few days carry the spots so far from the earth as to make their influence negligible.

The theory that the aurora borealis, or "northern lights," which send "earth current" through telegraph wires, interrupting communications result from sun spots was advanced by Dr. John A. Brashear, the late Pittsburgh astronomer. The theory never has been definitely accepted, naval observatory officials asserted, but it is fact that the spots on the sun usually accompanied by electrical disturbances has resulted in almost general acceptance of the theory.

The spots which now are present on the face of the sun and which were visible to the naked eye yesterday with the use of a smoked glass, were first photographed at the naval observatory last Monday, when the rotation of the sun brought that side of the solar body within view.

The spots at that time, according to Dr. G. H. Peters, an official at the observatory who photographed them, were about one and a half to two days old. The following day the photographs showed the spots to be much agitated, the gaseous vapors of which they are composed, resembling a cyclonic storm on the earth, Dr. Peters said.

Saturday's photograph, taken about noon, showed the spots to be near the solar meridian. Naval observatory officials said that presence of such a large group of spots at this time was most unusual inasmuch as the prevalence of the spots moves in an 11-year cycle and the apex of prevalence occurred about four years ago.

Disturbances Reappear

NEW YORK, May 16.—Electrical disturbances caused by the aurora borealis reappeared at 2 o'clock this morning, seriously hampering telephone and telegraph services.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. reported that with a few exceptions, its wires were all tied up.

Cables Affected

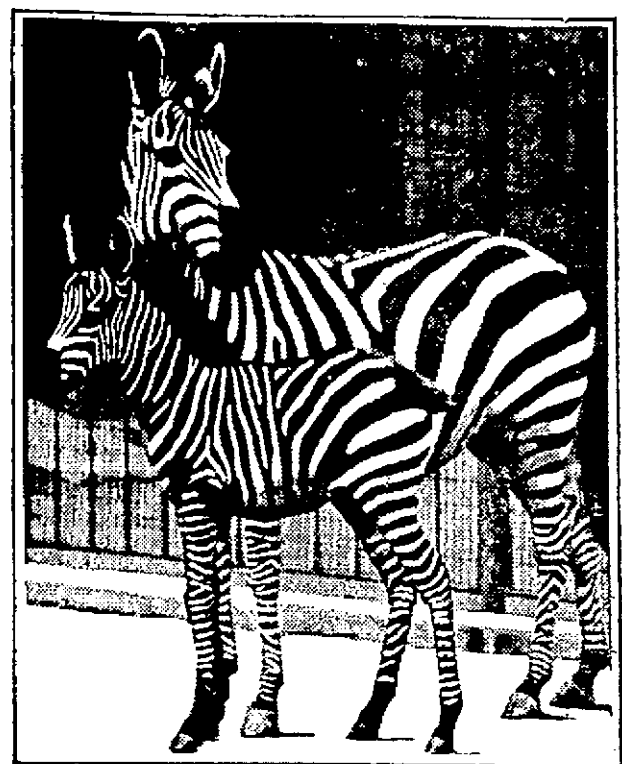

LONDON, May 16.—Telegraph and telephone lines in the British Isles and throughout all northern Europe have been seriously interrupted by the great magnetic storm which virtually paralyzed wire transmission in the United States Saturday night and Sunday.

Cables between England and the United States were affected early this morning and transmission was badly delayed.

The disturbance is believed to have caused a fire which destroyed a telephone exchange at Karlskrona, a Swedish town about 160 miles west of Stockholm.

MANUFACTURERS' CONVENTION

NEW YORK, May 16.—Manufacturers from all sections of the country were here today for the opening of the 28th annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers. A conference tomorrow on world trade, to be attended by the accredited diplomatic and consular representatives of many nations will be a feature of the convention. Ambassador Jusserand of France will be the honorary chairman of the first session of the conference.

Arguments In Garrow Murder Trial

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 16.—Arguments in the trial of Edward Garrow, charged with the murder of his wife on their farm at Franklin, last November, were begun today. Submission of the case to the jury was indicated. During acquittal of the defendant, Attorney W. R. McPheters declared that the state had failed to produce evidence, which excluded the possibility of the woman having taken her own life. State Attorney M. H. Alexander said jealousy was the motive for the crime which he contended Garrow had ample opportunity to commit.

Catholics of Mexico Mourn Victims

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—All Catholics in the republic are urged in a manifesto issued from the local headquarters of the Catholic women of Mexico, to observe May 17, 18 and 19 as days of mourning for the victims of Thursday's rioting at Morelia, capital of the state of Michoacan. Catholics who had gathered there in a demonstration against the desecration of churches were fired upon by federal troops and radicals and more than a score were killed.

The body of Isaac Arringa, head of the agrarian commission of the state of Michoacan who was killed during the disorders, is expected to arrive here for burial on Tuesday, and the socialists have planned a demonstration. The secretary of war returned yesterday from Morelia where he conducted an investigation. He declined to comment on the situation, saying he would make a personal report to President Obregon.

Search Welland Canal for Dynamite

WELLAND, Ont., May 16.—Police today searched the Welland canal for 1400 pounds of dynamite stolen last Friday night from the government stores near Allanburg. Several years ago an attempt to wreck the canal by explosives was made at Thorold, a few miles from Allanburg. Both federal authorities and police have expressed suspicion that a similar plot by radicals led to the theft last week. So far they have found only one of 28 cases which contained the dynamite, and it was empty.

Boston Moulders Accept Wage Cut

BOSTON, May 16.—A reduction in the wages of union moulders in greater Boston became effective today with the consent of the unions involved. The cut was $1 for the eight hour day. The employers had proposed a reduction of $1.50. Under the former agreement, the men received $7.20.

Adm. Robison to Leave for San Domingo

BOSTON, May 16.—Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, commandant of the local navy yard, received orders today to proceed to San Domingo as naval governor. He will sail from Hampton Roads on the destroyer Henderson, May 27. Rear Admiral Albert L. Gleaves will succeed both Rear Admiral Robison as yard commandant and Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn as commandant of the first district on that date. His orders mark restoration of single authority for district and yard, which were made separate commands for war purposes.

Militiamen Arrest 5 In W. Va. Mountains

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 16.—Kentucky militiamen recently arrived in the Williamson fighting zone have started combing the wooded mountain sections and already have arrested five men, according to reports reaching Sheriff Pinson's office today. The men were taken to Pikeville, Ky. The militiamen will try to locate the base of supplies from which arms and ammunition have been distributed. Little firing was reported today along the battle line between McCarr, Ky., and Rawl, W. Va.

Thompson received an enthusiastic greeting as a speaker. James J. Curley, former mayor of Boston, Roger M. Talson, business statistician and Meyer Bloomfield were initiated into the order.

FULL MEETING OF ALLIED COUNCIL

Possibility Discussed as Result of Polish Revolt in Upper Silesia

Reports Reaching London Indicate Cessation of Fighting

LONDON, May 16—There may be a full meeting of the supreme allied council for the purpose of discussing the situation which has arisen in Silesia as a result of the Polish revolt there. Decision on this point has not as yet been reached, and in some quarters it is said that a meeting of Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Briand of France is favored at the present time, rather than a meeting of the council.

Despatches from Paris indicate that M. Briand intends to lay the situation before the chamber of deputies when it meets on Thursday, following a recess of a fortnight. There has been an exchange of views between the British and French governments. Suggestions that a meeting be held have been met with assent in Paris, but it would be impossible for the French premier to discuss personally the Silesian affair with Mr. Lloyd George until after Thursday.

Advices received here over the weekend appeared to indicate a cessation of fighting in upper Silesia, but there was nothing to show that the Poles were withdrawing from regions they occupied during the past two weeks. Newspaper comment here seemed to be more moderate and collected a disposition to advise Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand to reach an amicable understanding relative to the Silesian problem, although in quarters where Mr. Lloyd George's attitude relative to Poland is condemned blame was placed upon him.

HELD ANNUAL MAY PROCESSION

Attired in white gowns, with veils and wreaths, and carrying flowers, the members of the Children of Mary sodality of St. Joseph's parish participated in their annual May procession, which was held yesterday afternoon. The young women assembled in the basement of St. Jean Baptiste church at 1:30 o'clock, from which point they marched to the grove of the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street, via Merrimack and Pawtucket streets.

The young women were accompanied by the Grey Nuns of the Cross of St. Joseph's convent, and were led by Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I., spiritual director of the sodality, who recited the rosary. Upon reaching the grove a sermon was delivered by Rev. Fr. Gratton, O.M.I., and later he officiated at benediction during which the children of Mary sang by the sodality choir. There were over 600 young women in line.

The Waseda university of Japan has a baseball team which plans to play American colleges across the country from the Pacific to the Atlantic, meeting Yale and Harvard this summer. They have planned to postpone the Pacific coast games until the close of the tour, so as to play the middle western and eastern colleges before they close.

be listed as a slacker in its support of the army.
A committee during the week is to give the business section of the city a fine-tooth combing for contributions and it is expected that there will be few persons in the section who will not have been given a chance to add to the fund, and that those who have already dipped into their purses will have had an opportunity to "come across" a second time, before Saturday night.
The members of the Rotary club are out to make a determined campaign to gather in coin from the industrial plants and from their success in similar enterprises in the past it is felt certain that they will roll up a long list of subscriptions for the army's benefit.

The local theatre managers' decision that they would not permit the use of their houses for soliciting contributions has not dampened the ardor of the Elks to make their part of the drive a success.
A contest was supposed to have been on between the police and the firemen to see which would secure the largest sum in contributions. Whether the contest is still on is uncertain. The police have already gathered over $300. No report has yet been made by the firemen, and it is uncertain whether they will turn in a report that will show that they have put one over on the cops.

No report has yet been received from the American Legion and the canvass in city hall under the direction of Arthur P. Woodles, the mayor's private secretary, is supposed to be still going on.
Contributions to the fund may be sent to Salvation Army drive headquarters, chamber of commerce, 7 Merrimack square.

REPORT LLOYD GEORGE OFFERS TO MEET DE VALERA AS KILLINGS IN IRELAND REDOUBLE IN FURY

Exhibit Showing Products of Many Local Industries Opened Today in Chamber of Commerce Rooms

INSPECTING SAMPLES OF FABRICS IN THE TEXTILE EXHIBITS

"America's leading textile city" is the title given to Lowell by Mayor Perry D. Thompson. That it deserves the designation was shown by an exhibition opened today in the chamber of commerce rooms of the products of many of the city's leading industrial plants. The display has been collected under the supervision of the municipal arts committee of the community service of which Frederick Coburn is chairman. It is to be open to the public without charge for admission all of this week.

The display consists of samples of Lowell products, attached to heavy pieces of card board, and hung around three of the sides of the chamber's meeting room. On each sample is a label telling the name of the manufacturer, the nature of the products, and in some cases the places to which it is sent in export trade.

Massachusetts Mills First

The first display that greets the visitor on entering the room is that of the Massachusetts cotton mills. The first samples are calculated to make one drowsy with their gentle suggestions of the luxury of slumber beneath "Downy" blankets of many dainty shades and textures.

SUITS AGAINST CITY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Three suits against the city of Lowell were started at the civil session of the superior court in this city, this morning, and all three have to do with the seizure of land by the city for the widening of Maiden lane, now called Cardinal O'Connell parkway. The plaintiffs are George C. Dempsey of Lowell and William P. Dempsey of Pawtucket, R.I., trustees under the will of Patrick Dempsey; Margaret Merrill and P. Dempsey and Co. The cases are being tried before Justice Hammond and one jury was empaneled for all three.

The plaintiffs allege that on or about November 18, 1915, the city of Lowell seized land and buildings located in or near Maiden lane, for the purpose of widening the thoroughfare, and that damages have not yet been awarded by the defendant because the plaintiffs have been offered sums less than damages sustained and that the plaintiffs and defendant have thus far been unable to agree upon damages. James J. Kerwin and William A. Hogan for plaintiffs and City Solicitor William D. Regan for the city.

MANY VOTE FOR CONTRACT WORK

Commerce Chamber's Members Favor Ending Construction of Streets by City

Taking the work of street construction out of the hands of the city's street department and placing it with contractors is overwhelming approved of in a referendum to the members of the chamber of commerce.

The referendum does not close until tonight, but for the guidance of members of the board of directors at their meeting today the envelopes containing the ballots that had been received up to noon were opened and counted shortly before the gathering of the directors. A count showed that 325 members had voted in the affirmative, 10 in the negative, and that one ballot had been returned blank.

The question on the referendum blanks was as follows:

"Are you in favor of a petition to be presented to the municipal council under the above section (Section 69) of our present charter requesting the municipal council to pass a measure providing that all new construction and reconstruction of streets be done by reputable road building concerns, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the city engineer, after the submitting of bids as provided in section twenty-seven of the city charter, with the further provision that Lowell labor shall be employed?"

The largest number of votes cast in any previous referendum of the chamber is 355.

PROHIBITION FAILURE HERE

"If we had 110 or 115 licenses, we wouldn't have any more drunkenness cases than we have now," declared Judge Enright in the police court, this morning, when a score of intoxication charges were recorded on the docket as Lowell's week-end contribution to the theory that John Barleycorn is the liveliest ghost discovered since the days of the Fox sisters. There were nine releases by Probation Officer Slattery. Eleven men appeared to answer charges of imbibing strong waters.

Andrew Radzick gave the lie to the police representative who testified that he bought a pint of shine from him for 32; then Judge Enright gave Radzick three months and a $150 fine. Martin Sopel was before the bar of justice charged with driving around with two barrels containing what is alleged to be beer. Aleck Dubinski was charged with operating an automobile while drunk. In short, it was a wet week-end, and no wonder his honor wanted to know where they are getting it. Deputy Downey was there with an explanation. "They're making it, your honor," he volunteered. "Yes, and they're selling it too," was the judge's comment.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Nearly 1200 Attend Annual Communion at St. Peter's Church—Breakfast Later

Nearly 1200 members of Lowell council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, marched from the council rooms in the Assoluto building to St. Peter's church yesterday morning where they received communion in a body at a special mass at 8:30 o'clock. It was by far the most largely attended annual communion ever held by the local council and was most impressive in every respect.

Following the mass at St. Peter's the members marched to high school hall, where they listened to a forceful and instructive address by Peter W. Collins, the noted K. of C. lecturer. It had originally been intended to hold the communion breakfast in Assoluto hall but the size of the crowd made this impossible.

The members left their rooms shortly after 8 o'clock and were short-were Grand Knight Briggan, Peter Collins of Chelsea, Deputy Grand Knight Hart, Dist. Deputy Charles J. Landers, Past G. K. Robert R. Thomas, Past District Deputy William F. Thornton, Chairman Thomas B. DeJany of the school board, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy, Chief Saunders of the fire department, Supt. Welch of the police department, Commissioner John F. Salmon, and Hugh J. McOsker.

Grand Knight Briggan called to order after the breakfast and congratulated the members upon the splendid turnout. He conveyed to one and all the felicitations of the chaplain, Rev. Fr. Heffernan, who, he said, although still at St. John's hospital was with them in spirit. He then introduced the only speaker of the occasion, Mr. Peter Collins, field worker of the order and an orator of ability.

Mr. Collins expressed his pleasure in meeting the members of Lowell council and of speaking in the home city of Cardinal O'Connell, whom he eulogized as one of the greatest champions of the church. The speaker gave a very interesting account of his experience in lectures all over the United States and assured his audience that many delusions held in some parts of the country relative to the Knights of Columbus were easily dispelled by a plain statement of what the order stands for—God and country. The usual set by practical Catholics, he said, is the strongest influence in dispelling false notions as to Catholic teaching and practice. He dwelt upon the efficacy of prayer and frequent communion as potent forces in obtaining what we ask from God, in overcoming our human frailties and living continually in God's grace.

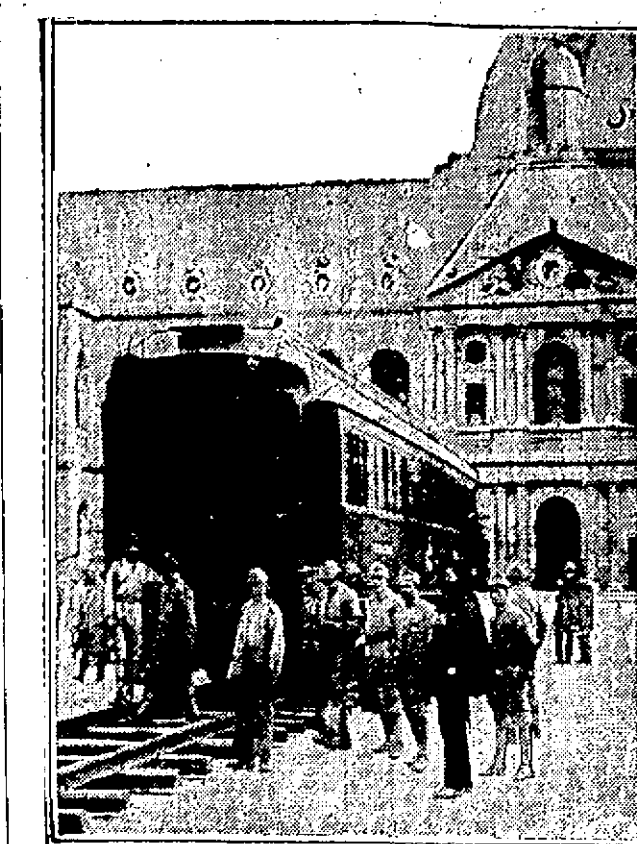

In conclusion he referred to the Knights of Columbus service overseas and said this spirit of sacrifice for God and country must continue. In this great country we have a vast area of 3,600,000 miles yet in that there is not and never should be one square foot for the man who is not willing to prove his loyalty and devotion to the Stars and Stripes. He defined "service" by the letters of the word thus: "S," sacrifice for God and country; "E," for education, by which we increase our power for good; "R," religion and our glorious republic; "V," for vision as to conditions and the right course of action; "I," for industry and production as necessary to our country at the present time; "C," for character which stands firmly for what is right and moves onward to success; "E," for enthusiasm, without which no great work is ever accomplished. He closed with an appeal for upholding a spirit of loyalty that combats radicalism in all its forms and works always for 100 per cent. Americanism.

OBSERVE FEAST OF PENTECOST

The feast of Pentecost was observed in all the local Catholic churches yesterday. Sermons on the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the apostles were preached at the various masses and processions were held in the churches in observance of the occasion.

Especially impressive were the services at the immaculate Conception church where a procession was held in the evening. Vesper services were celebrated at 6:30 and the procession followed, with members of the Immaculate Conception sodality, both branches of the Children of Mary sodality, altar boys and clergymen participating. During the services a class of 125 children, who had received their first communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass, were consecrated to the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Virgin.

Next Sunday the annual May procession of St. Michael's parish will be held. At 8:30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday 150 children received their first communion.

ARMISTICE CAR IN MUSEUM

In Nov. 11, 1918, ended the world war. The car is shown in the courtyard of Les Invalides, the famous Parisian museum of military relics. It was moved in on special tracks constructed for the purpose. Behind the museum tower rises the dome of Napoleon's tomb.

LECTURES ON VENICE IN WHISTLER HOUSE

Venice, its shrines and art treasures were described in a talk in the Whistler house by Miss Gertrude Sanderson of Littleton. Saturday afternoon. Water color pictures and pen sketches were shown by the speaker. Songs suggestive of life on the canals and lagoons of the "Dolce of the Adriatic" were sung by Mrs. George H. Spalding with Arthur C. Spalding as accompanist. There were violin selections by Miss Edna Dixon.

Charles Hopkinson, some of whose pictures are now on exhibition in the Whistler house, is to give a talk on art subjects in the house tomorrow evening. A meeting of the art association for the election of officers will also be held. The meeting is to start at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Hopkinson will begin his talk at 8:15 p.m.

COLOR SCHEME

For the home dressmaker no materials could combine more beautifully for an evening frock than pale green chiffon trimmed with bands of monkey fur. The contrast is lovely, and made in the most simple way, gives the gown an air of distinction.

GLASS HINT

If glassware is rinsed with cold water before milk is put in it, it will wash more easily and will come out without the cloud which usually is hard to remove.

RAIDS AND FIRES IN LIVERPOOL

Six Houses in Widely Separated Parts of City Raided and Burned

Many Inmates of Houses Bound and Gagged—Report Women Attacked

LIVERPOOL, May 16.—Six houses in widely separated parts of this city were raided and set on fire by parties unknown last night. The occupants of every house thus visited have relatives serving in the Royal Irish constabulary. The inmates were in some cases gagged and bound, the furniture was drenched with kerosene and set on fire, and in some instances the helpless people were left to the mercy of the flames by the raiders, who fled in automobiles.

The raids were in all ways similar to those made in suburban districts of London and in this city Saturday night. The police declared yesterday that the raids on Saturday night were apparently well organized, and that in most cases the men engaged in them were disguised.

One house that was raided was occupied by Mrs. Jennings, a widow, and her daughter. The latter opened the door when there was a knock, and she was seized by the throat by the intruder. She struggled and tried to call mother, and then fainted. The women were too terrified to raise an alarm.

In another house three sisters who were overawed by a dozen men, who displayed revolvers and threatened to shoot them if they stirred. The men then looted the furniture and fled.

A neighbor saw the flames, and upon going to the house found the women's clothing in flames from fires that had been set in the bedding. Firemen arrived in time to save the building. Two men who tried to seize the fleeing raiders were stabbed, but were not seriously injured.

In another house a man 70 years of age, was attacked and beaten with a poker. He was then gagged and bound, and clothing and bedding was piled on the floor and ignited. The man's aged wife collapsed, but he, while bound, managed to struggle to a police station and give an alarm.

A retired sailor named Wilson grappled with a raider when his home was entered, and in spite of his 77 years, threw the intruder to the floor and held him until another raider placed a revolver at the old man's head and threatened to kill him. Wilson thereupon abandoned the struggle, but his terrified attacks the raiders and prevented them from setting fire to the house. When the raiders ran the dog chased them but was shot dead.

A sailor named Brailsford refused to throw up his hands when men broke into his house but threw a small sewing machine at the intruders, who fled, firing several shots as they left the house. None of the raiders has been arrested.

number of other persons were killed Saturday and yesterday in attacks and counter-attacks at various places. Numerous persons were wounded.

Record For Violence

More lives may have been lost in the Macroom ambushade, when 17 auxiliaries were killed, or on "Red Sunday," but for general and organized violence Saturday and yesterday probably were the worst since shot-put on a large scale were inaugurated in January, 1918.

All the casualties except one occurred in the area covered by the southern parliament. The exception was at Drumore, Tyrone, where a Sinn Féin man was shot dead.

Miss Barrington was travelling with two other women and Inspector-Major Bice and a military officer when she was killed. The military officer was wounded.

Constable Bridges was shot dead and two other constables were wounded while purchasing groceries Satur-

Tech Student Shot By Burglar

CAMBRIDGE, May 16.—John B. King of Washington, D. C., a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was twice wounded early today by a supposed burglar, whom he had found in his rooms in Drayton hall. King said he was awakened by a noise in the adjoining room of his brother, Gilbert King, a Harvard student who was absent overnight. In seeking the cause of the noise, he encountered the intruder. They grappled and King said he was getting the better of the man when he was shot twice. His wounds, in the shoulder and thigh, were not considered serious. His assailant escaped through a window by which he had apparently entered.

400 Laid Off at Boston Navy Yard

BOSTON, May 16.—The working force at the Boston navy yard was further depleted today when 400 men, most of them employes in the hull division, were furloughed. It was said that there was no indication when they would be taken back. The furlough is for two weeks and if a man is not recalled at the end of that period, he is automatically discharged. Some of those laid off today had been in the yard 20 years.

Three Boys Drown at Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., May 16.—Three 17-year-old boys were drowned in the Connecticut river yesterday when their canoe capsized. One, Joseph Carbone, was an office boy for the Hartford Courant. The others were Salvatore Carpentieri and Salvatore Ficare. The accident happened about 3 o'clock. Grappling irons were used shortly afterward, but none of the bodies had been recovered late last night. It is reported that the boys could not swim and that they were inexperienced with paddles.

Report Bank Shortage of $400,000

TUSCOLA, Ill., May 16.—Warrants were issued here today for the arrest of John S. Quirk, cashier of the Arcola State bank at Arcola, Ill., near here, and for his father, M. T. Quirk, vice president, after the bank had been closed by State Bank Examiner Whitlock following a reported shortage of $400,000. The warrants were sent to Arcola to be served. The bank was closed today at the request of T. E. Lyons, one of the vice presidents, and of the board of directors to permit an audit.

Express Deliberately Derailed

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 16.—Investigation of the wreck last night of the Chicago & Alton "Hummer," in which a score of persons were injured, indicated that this fast train between Chicago and Kansas City was deliberately derailed, according to railroad officials who today conducted an inquiry here.

Says Troops Still Needed in W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 16.—Governor Morgan of West Virginia said today that federal troops were needed as badly as ever in the mining battle zone. "The truce evidently means nothing," he said, "and I cannot see that the situation is greatly changed one way or the other."

NASHUA MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

As a result of a head-on collision between a motorcycle and an automobile, which occurred Saturday night at the junction of Dunbar avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard, Joseph Bigard of 15 1/2 Canal street, Nashua, N. H., is in a serious condition at the Lowell general hospital. The young man is suffering from a fractured rib and punctured lung as well as other internal injuries.

Bigard was on his way home on his motorcycle after visiting his mother in Hildreth street, this city, and when he reached the junction of Dunbar avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard an automobile operated by Frank Conners of 731 Essex street, Lawrence, came in sight and the two machines collided. The motorcycle was demolished, while the automobile was badly damaged. Bigard was placed in an automobile truck and rushed to the hospital.

WAS KNOCKED OUT IN FIRST ROUND

A wallop on the countenance stretched Thomas Thomas on the hard pavement, smashing two of his teeth. In an argument over 25 cents, it was testified in the police court this morning, when Napoleon Kefaleas paid a $10 fine for assault and battery on Thomas. The defendant told the court that he had espoused the cause of a little newsboy, to whom he contended, Thomas owed the sum mentioned above. "He raised his hand and I raised my hand," said the defendant, who admitted pushing Thomas so that he went down for a goal.

But he insisted that Thomas addressed to him profane epithets. The defendant said that he paid the "poor boy" his 25 cents. The complainant exhibited the remains of his teeth, accused Kefaleas of lying in wait for him, and told of being smitten with such mighty force that he measured "his length on the sidewalk. Result: a fine for Kefaleas, who paid it smilingly.

CAVE SOCIETY BENEFIT

Entertainment in Aid of Society That is Doing Good Work

The St. Joseph's parish branch of the St. Vincent de Paul society of this city has established a record in raising funds and lending a helping hand to the poor of its parish. This statement was made last evening at the Academy of Music by Rev. L. N. Bachand, O.M.I., to an audience of over two hundred, the occasion being the presentation of a musical comedy for the benefit of the society. The reverend gentleman did not go into the details of the work of the society, but said the organization was second to none in this section and he complimented the officers of the branch for their excellent work and he extended his thanks to the large audience for their presence and to the women who took part in the play, saying the cause was a very worthy one.

The play produced was "Les Bohemiennes," a most delightful sketch, presented in a very clever manner. The plot centered around a young girl, the daughter of a countess, who, while a tot, was kidnapped by a band of gypsies. Several years later while a band of gypsies was camping in the home town of the countess, a bright-eyed girl attracted the attention of the noble woman, who, in an endeavor to forget her lost child, adopted her. Later the identity of the girl was disclosed and a happy reunion between mother and daughter took place.

The production was given under the personal direction of Rev. Fr. Bachand, O.M.I., who was highly complimented for the success achieved. Those who took part were Miss Angeline Hotin, Miss Blanche Levesque, Miss Caroline Desrosiers, Miss Claire Dubois, Miss Jeannette Chevalier, Miss Georgiana Desrosiers, Miss Antoinette Montmarquet, Miss Juliet Vincent, Miss Yvonne Montmarquet, Miss Antoinette Hotin, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Miss Marguerite Turgeon, Miss Elizabeth Lachapelle, Miss Blanche Montmarquet and Miss Cecile Morin.

Mrs. Smith played the part of the kidnapped girl in a very clever manner, and her work was given due recognition by the appreciative audience. Miss Antoinette Montmarquet in the comic role kept her audience in a happy mood. Special mention should also be given Miss Angeline Hotin, who sustained the role of the countess. Miss Turgeon who is possessed of a pleasing soprano voice delighted the audience with her vocal selections.

Between the acts a delightful musical program was given. Mr. Rodolphe Janson-Lefebvre, a grand opera singer, rendered two selections and was warmly applauded. The violin duets by P. Bergeron and R. Nault were pleasing, while the musical selections by a quartet composed of Miss Beatrice Richard, piano; Miss Antoinette Richard, guitar; Miss Anita Richard, banjo, and Miss Beatrice Kelly, violin, were highly appreciated.

Another very pleasing number was the selections by a vocal quartet composed of Miss Stella Lafleur, Miss Blanche Larue, Mrs. R. A. Pichette and Messrs. Archie Lavalley and Fred Vener. The accompanists were Miss Antoinette Dion, Miss Della Thibault and Miss Lena B. Camire.

Among the donations present were Very Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O. M. I., Rev. Leon Lamotte, O. M. I., Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. I., Rev. Charles Denzot, O. M. I., Rev. Athanasius Marion, O. M. I., Rev. E. J. Carrier, O. M. I. and others. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, president of the particular council of all the local branches of the St. Vincent de Paul society, was a special guest at the performance.

The ushers were Messrs. Dewey Archambault, J. A. N. Chretien, Arthur L. Enn, Roderick Jolien, E. Lemire, Hector McDonald, Herve D. Parthenais, Arthur Pelletier, Raoul Richard, Victor Rochette, Joseph Schiller, Arthur Turcotte and Napoleon Vincent.

P.M.C.E. SOCIETY
The regular monthly meeting of the Lawrence Street P.M.C.E. society was held Friday evening, May 14, in the church vestry. It was voted to open the picnic season with a truck ride on May 30. After several important matters were brought before the society and considered, the meeting adjourned. Everyone present enjoyed a social time after which refreshments were served.

O'Brien Executed
CORK, May 16.—Daniel O'Brien of Knockardbane, Liscarrow, County Cork, who was tried by drumhead court-martial Saturday, was executed in the Cork detention barracks today.

He met death bravely, maintaining the same attitude that he displayed at his trial when in answering the request to plead, he replied: "I have no defense; I was caught as a soldier and you can try me."

A few women in the vicinity of the prison offered prayers as the execution was carried out. O'Brien was attended by a priest yesterday.

"BROKE" BUT SPURNED DROWNING MAN'S OFFER OF $500 TO LET HIM SINK

NEW YORK, May 15.—Spurning $500 offered by a drowning man if he would let him sink, Harry Green, negro, knocked Nassau station unconscious and carried him to shore early today. Penniless and without a home, Green lay on the Erie docks at the foot of Duane street. He saw a man shed his coat and jump. He followed waited until the man's head appeared, then caught him by the hair. "I want to die," Green said the man shouted. "Let me go and take $500 from my belt." "I don't see how I could collect if he drowned, so I saved him," Green told the police. "This shows what a fool you were," Baron is reported to have said to Green as he unwound from his waist a belt containing $750. Baron told police that he had paid a large sum for a coat and hat checking privilege in an uptown cafe, but that since prohibition laws became effective, business had slumped and he stood to lose.

THE CONNECTING LINK

Hearing on Extension of Highway Between Lowell and Dracut

Providing the county will contribute its share of the cost of the work, the connecting link between the state highway in Broadway, Dracut, and the Pawtucket boulevard, via Riverside street in Lowell and Pleasant street in Dracut, will be finished this year. This was brought out at a hearing held this morning at the court house in Gorham street before the commissioners on a petition asking for the relocation and specific repairs to Pleasant street. In the course of the hearing it was stated by Bert A. Cluff, chairman of the board of selectmen for Dracut, that the link would complete the highway from Nashua to Haverhill and the beaches along the North shore.

Chairman Cluff explained that the town has already appropriated a certain amount for the work, but more money is needed and he urged the commissioners to do their "bit." Fred A. Bassett, a member of the highway committee for the town, said the plans call for the relocation of the street and the widening of the bridge over the brook near the plant of the Merrimack Woolen Co. in Pleasant street. He said the town has appropriated $8,000 for the work, but a similar amount will be needed to complete the job. He stated that the town would have to take a small piece of land on the easterly side of the bridge and would have to pay the owners, while on the westerly side of the structure the land is owned by the Merrimack Woolen Co., which is willing to donate it to the town. There were others who spoke in favor of the petition and the matter was taken under advisement.

Chelmsford Hearing
Residents of Chelmsford were also given a hearing on their petition for specific repairs to Carville street, the chairman of the board of selectmen, William Belville, Mr. Cassidy, H. D. Quinn, E. R. Finckel and others spoke at length in favor of the project, pointing out that the road is in bad condition and a menace to school children. No action was taken by the commissioners.

The third hearing was on a petition of residents of Tyngsboro for the relocation of the old Nashua road and Hudson road in Tyngsboro. Speaking in favor of the petition were Fred L. Snow of the board of selectmen and Claude A. Bell. They stated that the town has appropriated the sum of $500 for the work and that a similar amount will be needed to carry out the plans. The matter was taken under advisement.

HELD IN TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS BOND

"Two thousand dollars bond," was Judge Enright's decision after he had heard testimony in relation to the case of Joseph P. Silva, charged with drunkenness and with assault and battery on his wife, and whose case was continued to May 26. The assault occurred last night, and Silva is in a dangerous condition as the result of her husband's attack. It was stated by the defendant's daughter, a long dirk was produced by the arresting officers and was said to have been wielded by Silva after he had done violence to his wife.

Auto owners are likely to find the exhibit of the Hay State Cotton corporation of more than ordinary interest. It shows fine fabrics of many grades and kinds. It also contains samples of different weights of sail cloth including samples of the canvas used for the sails of the cup defender "Resolute."

The War Recalled
Memories of the war are recalled by the exhibit of khaki cloth made by the Merrimack Manufacturing company. There are also numerous samples of velveteens and cotton flannels used for coat linings. Patterns for coats and trousers are also shown, and to the layman it will be a puzzle to know how it is possible to so closely copy a forged finish with the materials used.

Slumber Jags Again
Slumber jags are again brought to mind when the space is reached that is given up to the samples of products of the Tremont & Suffolk mills. Here are soft and enticing cotton blankets with wool finish and outing flannel and Shaker flannel, suitable for pajamas and kimono. The coloring of some of the samples is very effective. There are also samples of cotton suitings that are sold in the South America trade.

Cotton flannels in delicate shades are shown by the Haddon Manufacturing company. These are also suitable for slumber garments of one sort or another. "Apple Leaf"

A display of Diane crepe is calculated to make the female visitor feel inclined to make an immediate raid on the mill's stock for the material for several dresses. Campus cloth is also shown.

Uniform Cloth
Among the products shown by the United States Bunting company are samples of uniform cloth with worsted warp and wool filling and silk mixed worsted goods for men's wear. All sorts of bunting of many shades is also shown. The Lyon Carpet company shows Jacquard woven Lyons rugs colored with dyes that are guaranteed to be the fastest known colors to light. The Economy Rug company shows a sample of rugs made from old carpets. The Talbot mills of Billerica shows samples of galize and spat cloth and other materials. The Sterling mills also have an interesting display of samples of their products. This afternoon the members of the municipal art committee of the community service made an inspection of the exhibit.

BIG SUMS AVAILABLE FOR ROAD BUILDING

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Approximately $2,000,000 is available every working day during the present year for expenditure upon highways of the United States, according to a statement today by Prof. C. J. Tilden, director of the highway and highway transport education committee.

The actual sum available from state and county bond issues, and federal aid for the year is $800,000,000, a sum 50 per cent. greater than the total cost of the Panama canal, according to figures obtained from the bureau of public roads.

This point was made by Professor Tilden in stressing the need for more courses in highway construction and economics in colleges and universities. To spend this amount wisely, he said, would require the services of more than 10,000 trained highway engineers. At this time, universities are graduating only about 1000 civil engineers annually, of whom only a small percentage turn to highway construction. The supply is far short of the demand, according to Prof. Tilden.

Through the agency of the committee of which he is director, Prof. Tilden is endeavoring to persuade institutions of higher learning to include courses in highway economics in their regular curriculum. Prof. Tilden occupies the chair of engineering mechanics at Yale university, but is on leave as director of the committee.

Another and more popular campaign is being undertaken by the committee by means of a national essay contest among high school pupils on the subject, "Good Roads and Highway Transport." Several hundred letters of inquiry are received daily from all sections of the country. Even the islands and possessions and the territories are seeking information on the contest.

News of the contest has been conveyed to pupils by their teachers and school superintendents in response to an announcement sent out by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, who is chairman of the highway transport committee. Essays must be not more than 500 words in length

BY HAMILTON FOLEY

Of the 15.5 grams of high purity radium produced by the Standard Chemical company of Pittsburgh, during 1920, President James C. Gray permitted only 1.3 grams to be used for commercial purposes.

This concern reflects seven-twelfths of the world's supply of radium.

How such expensive material as radium may be used on the dials of comparatively inexpensive watches, for example, is mystifying to people generally.

The luminous material on watch and clock dials is a combination of a most minute portion of real radium and a specially prepared zinc sulphide.

If one of these dials is examined by a good reading glass, in the dark, the luminous material will be seen to be seething with tiny flashes of light.

These flashes are caused by the explosions of the atoms in the minute portion of real radium in the mixture.

These atoms have been found to be so small that 250,000,000 of them probably would be required to cover one inch.

As each atom explodes, a particle flies from it as a projectile from a gun. These particles are too small to be seen under the most powerful microscope. But scientists have found that when one of these particles is suddenly stopped by striking a crystal of zinc sulphide, the heat is sufficient to make a flash of light the eye can see. These are the flashes seen under a good reading glass.

The flashes occur at the rate of 200,000 a second on the average luminous dial of the average watch bought in commercial routine. It is the combined light of all the flashes of light seen under the reading glass that makes the light or glow that makes the dial visible in the dark without a reading glass.

The brightness and durability of a radium luminous dial depends on the number of these tiny flashes per second. The more radium, the more flashes and the brighter the dial.

But every flash means a blow upon a crystal of zinc sulphide. These crystals cannot stand these blows indefinitely. They break down under them, and when this happens, there are no more flashes and the dial loses its glow. The zinc has failed, not the radium.

One 1-25th of 1 per cent. of any quantity of radium disintegrates or is lost in a year.

The quantity of radium on the average watch dial is not more than about one-millionth of a gram.

and must be in the hands of local committees not later than June 15, when the contest closes. Only pupils of high school grade are eligible to compete. Virtually all state superintendents are naming state committees to award state honors and prizes, and are announcing the contest to their pupils. Commissioner Claxton will name the national committee which will award the main prize.

As a means of encouraging pupils to write essays, the committee requested one of its members, H. S. Firestone, Akron, Ohio, to offer a national prize. Mr. Firestone put up a four years' university scholarship, with a value of not less than $4000, as the award for the best essay written on this subject.

A similar contest held last year resulted in approximately 200,000 essays being written. The Firestone scholarship was awarded Miss Katharine F. Butterfield, 16 year old high school girl of Weiser, Idaho.

PIRATE'S MORALS ARE OUT OF DATE

This is the first of four articles, important alike to business man and consumer, written by Chairman Thompson for The Sun.

BY HUSTON THOMPSON

Chairman, Federal Trade Commission

When Woodrow Wilson was governor of New Jersey, he met a prominent Bull-Mooser in the dining car of a train. In the course of their conversation, the Bull-Mooser expressed the opinion that the main function of government was to insure complete freedom of action for every individual.

"No," replied the governor, "the main function of government is to see that some individuals do not have too much freedom of action."

In this bit of repartee on the part of Mr. Wilson, there is the germ of a very important economic truth: the freedom of the many will take care of itself if a fair and reasonable restraint of the very few is enforced.

In every walk of life there may be found the small minority who cling to the pirate's business morals, the principle of the survival of the fittest by fair means or foul. As in the days of piracy on the high seas, such methods and practices make for terror and confusion and lead to reprisals and a general disruption of fair business.

It was in the hope of restoring confidence to the honest business world that the mechanism of the federal trade commission was conceived.

The commission lends itself to the picture of the watchman on the ancient city wall, whose duty it was to keep the public informed of passing events concerning their interests. It gathers and compiles information concerning corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and makes public such information (except trade secrets and names of customers), as it deems expedient in the public interest. It serves as a "Stop, Look and Listen" sign in the midst of the busy market place.

The general welfare of the public has become a factor of vastly greater importance to the present generation than it was in pioneer days. Amidst the simple community life of days gone by, the individual could safeguard his own interests. Out of social conditions in the days of our forefathers there grew up the doctrine of "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware!

It was fair enough in its day, when the average buyer could keep his weather eye open for the spavined horse, the gold brick proposition, or the lightning rod salesman.

But that day is long since gone. A few years ago, we bought our groceries in bulk. They were weighed and measured before our eyes. Today, they are sold in a more sanitary manner, conveniently packed in cartons, ready to be delivered.

But who knows whether the weight and measure are accurate, or even how the contents may appear when opened? The buyer takes his goods on faith.

Suppose the housewife enters the corner grocery and asks for a pound of butter. One pound is presumed to contain 16 ounces. Our housewife frequently receives a pasteboard box containing 15 ounces of butter, and is seriously ignorant of the inconspicuous words on the carton, "Fifteen ounces net weight."

Perhaps she should have taken the precaution of reading all the printed matter before buying. Perhaps the package was wrapped before she had an opportunity to examine it. Or if she were one of the many millions in this country who cannot read, the printed matter would have been of little warning. At any rate, she has paid for a pound of butter and has received 15 ounces.

This is but one of the many devices found all over the world in the packing of goods of all kinds. (Next article—"Trade Frauds in Ancient Babylon.")

SEMI-DRESS

A fancy of the semi-decolletage is tulle draping. On some of the smarter gowns it is drawn around the bodice in a straight line and allowed to stand quite upright, veiling even the upper neck and chin. Such an effect adds the softness of youth.

SUGARED FRUIT

Occasionally the best of housewives have a can of jelly or preserves when goes to sugar. It can be used to sweeten dried fruit which is being cooked and will add a delightful variance of flavor.

The yak, or woolly ox, of Tibet, is to be raised in Alaska and the Yukon country. The yak has been domesticated for centuries and its haunts are the snow-covered highlands of Tibet, thousands of feet above the sea. The animal eats a coarse dry grass and romps favorably with range cattle in winter. The wool and hide are also valuable.

ZIPPY ZEBRA'S STORY

ZIPPY LOOKED EVER SO SURPRISED. "WHY IT ISN' ANY SECRET, I'M SURE, HE ANSWERED

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Of course, by the time Zippy Zebra said "boot" to Mrs. Ostrich, she thought that her young friend with the stripes had suddenly gone crazy. She went over and nudged her husband with her wing and pointed at Zippy and said she suspected all along that something was wrong with him.
But Mr. Ostrich said "Nonsense!" and strode right over to Zippy and demanded to know what he meant by talking of slippers and shoes and boots and things the way he was doing.
Zippy looked ever so surprised. "Why it isn't any secret, I'm sure," he answered, "I'll tell you all about it."
Nancy and Nick and Pippety-Flap behind the bobab-bush leaned forward to listen, for they, too, wished to know exactly what Zippy had been talking about.
"The slipper I spoke of," explained Zippy, "was a great golden one drawn by eight brown ponies (and sometimes someone else) in the circus parade. It was called 'Cinderella's Slipper,' and a lovely maiden drove it."
"And the shoe?" asked Mrs. Ostrich, curiously.
"That was golden, too," answered Zippy. "It was called 'The Old Woman's Shoe' and was drawn by eight milk-white ponies (and sometimes someone else besides), driven by a woman in a gray wig. A dozen children got a ride in the top."
"But the boot! You spoke of a boot," Zippy nodded. "It was a great golden one and was drawn by eight coal-black ponies (and sometimes someone else). A man dressed like a gray cat drove them. Over the top was a sign, 'Puss-in-Boots.'"
"He didn't mean us, after all," whispered Pippety-Flap to the twins.
But Mrs. Ostrich was still curious. "Who was the someone else?" she wanted to know.
"I was," answered Zippy Zebra.

WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD DO WHEN SHE IS WEAK AND NERVOUS

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE SURPRISINGLY INCREASED THEIR STRENGTH, ENERGY AND ENDURANCE IN TWO WEEKS BY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms, which are often produced by iron starvation of the blood, the sufferer frequently never suspects the real cause of her trouble but thinks she has some other ailment. As a result of iron starvation you may suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath or heart palpitation, pains across the back, loss of memory, weak will power, melancholy or the "blues," disturbed digestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats and so on. In such cases do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration but eat more spinach and green vegetables and take organic iron like Suxated Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic iron like Suxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of substitutes. Look for the name "Suxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

WORK EXHIBIT AT THE MOREY SCHOOL

First a vocal selection and then the actual, honest-to-goodness baking of biscuits, right in front of your eyes on the stage, ladies and gentlemen. Another song, and then a "demonstration of placing a patch on striped material." The foregoing conveys a hint of the novel nature of the exhibit of work processes, under class room conditions, to be held at the Morey school all this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Home Economics club of the school will provide the unusual entertainment, which will include the following program: Girls' report on work done; song by clubs, "Keep the Needles Flying"; secretary's report of the breadmaking project; song by clubs, "The Forever Baking Biscuits"; demonstration, baking powder biscuits, Cynthia Carr; baking powder (etc.) experiments, Betty MacBray; song by clubs, "Oh, Bring Your Mother's Bread Board"; dance, Eleanor Bloss, state clubs song; roll-call of garmentmaking project; song, "Slumber Boat"; Gretta McPherson; demonstration, placing a patch on striped material, Ernestine Brigham; club song (original).

Twenty-three compose the membership of the organization, and they meet twice a month, as well as having many special classes. They are also pledged to 50 hours of home housework each month, together with a specified amount of cooking and sewing. For this afternoon's demonstration, a gas range, fully equipped, has been placed in position on the stage of the hall, and here the young ladies, adorned in caps and aprons, will reveal their culinary skill. The organization is the product of activities of the United States department of agriculture, besides the state college at Amesbury. State officials of the state educational institution will be present. Teachers in charge of the event are Misses Anna Coffey, Minnie Gray, Leonarda Battles and Mary Foss.

PREDICTS WIRELESS PHONE ACROSS OCEAN

LONDON, May 16.—Signor Marconi, inventor of wireless, plus his faith to trans-Atlantic telephonic communication by wireless instead of by cable, despite the recent successful experiments in America connecting Cuba with the mainland in a telephone circuit extending 5000 miles.

"I still think," he said, "that the only satisfactory method of telephoning across the Atlantic is by wireless. At present we can only do a short distance by cable telephone—from London to Paris is as far as we can do now. In attempts to communicate with Spain we have failed. Up to 100 or 200 miles of cable it works. With 1000 miles or more of cable it won't work."

"Wireless telephony, of course, has not yet been developed to the same extent as the wire telephone, but it is being rapidly improved. We have not done anything like 5000 miles thus far. We have spoken successfully from London to Rome, and we have got words through to America, but not in a commercial or practical way. At present there are certain disturbances of the waves in space, the cause of which has not yet been discovered."

SPRING AILMENTS

Impure Blood, Humors.—Relief in a Good Medicine.

Spring ailments are due to impure, thin, deoxygenated blood. Among them are pimples, boils, other eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, nervousness and "all run-down" conditions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the roots, barks, herbs, berries and other medicinals that have been found in many years of intelligent observation to be most effective in the treatment of these ailments.

Successful physicians prescribe the same ingredients for diseases of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and in cases where alterative and tonic effects are needed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the spring medicine that purifies, enriches and revitalizes your blood, increasing power of resistance to disease.

For a laxative take Hood's Pills.

LOWELL IRON WORKER HAD A STARTLING EXPERIENCE LATELY, TELLS ABOUT IT

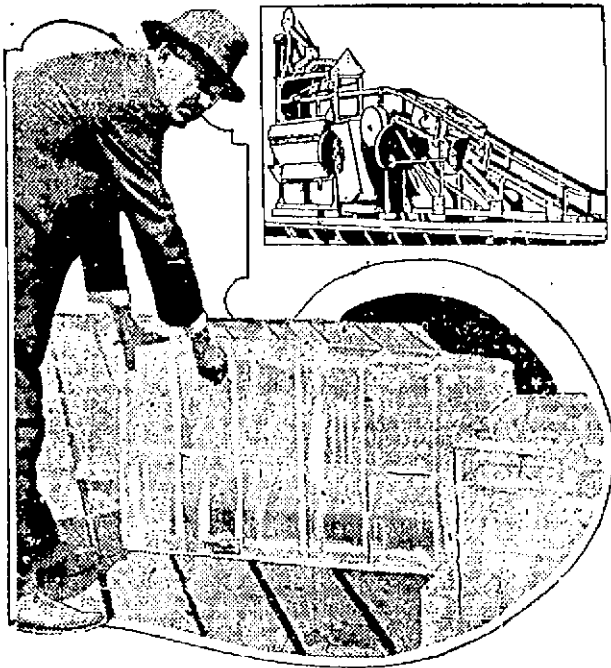

Mr. Fred La Comb of 297 Dutton Street, Lowell, Was a Very Sick Man Until the Tonic CINOT Came to His Assistance

"I'll say that CINOT is a great remedy," said Mr. La Comb, "and I am willing to say a good word for it. I had gastritis and couldn't eat anything and when I did I felt badly for it. Gas would be on my stomach all the time and I could not get rid of it and it is a very uncomfortable feeling to have."

"One day while suffering from a bad attack of indigestion I heard of CINOT and saw where it had helped people who had the same symptoms that I had suffered with so I got a bottle. The effects of this remedy have been startling and I am pleased with the results and I have not had a stomach attack since using it and you can put me down as a real CINOT booster."

CINOT is being demonstrated in Lowell by an expert at Dewey's drug store and is for sale by all druggists everywhere.—Adv.

This Ice Machine Gives the Correct Weight Every Time

M. J. ULIN, TOLEDO, DEMONSTRATING HOW HIS INVENTION SIMPLIFIES THE WORK OF THE ICEMEN AND DOES AWAY WITH WEIGHT GUESSING.

A machine that does away with short weight, waste and guessing by the ice man has been perfected by M. J. Uline. He is manager of the Maumee Ice and Storage Corp. of Toledo.

As the blocks of ice come from freezing tanks they are pulled up a chute on an endless chain into this machine.

One saw makes a longitudinal cut. Then the ice is dropped through saws that make vertical cuts four inches deep. This divides the block into sections of 25 pounds.

The iceman making deliveries from the wagon gives the block a slight jab with his pick in the cracks marking the desired weight. The block of ice is cut without waste and without guesswork. No chips.

Uline plans to sell the machines for $2000 each. He considered the idea for years, but worked out the plans in 30 days.

USE BALLOON OF U. S. AIRMEN FOR CANOE

COCHRANE, Ont., May 16.—Some wonderful canoes appeared mysteriously recently in the James Bay region. They were constructed not of birch bark, but of a strange material the north had never seen. As light and swift as swallows on the wing, they skimmed the water. Moose Indians marveled. Had the great spirit come from the happy hunting grounds to teach his red children new medicine?

The big balloon that carried three of Uncle Sam's naval aviators into the wilderness several months ago has since lain collapsed on the spot where it descended. Officials of Moose Factory, one of the earliest posts established on American shores by the Hudson Bay company had given orders to all the Indians who own allegiance to the ancient fur company, to leave the great gasbag undisturbed. These orders had been strictly observed.

A band of outlaws Indians, whose home village is sixty miles northwest of Moose Factory, found the balloon. Old Hudson Bay company's order meant nothing to them. As for Uncle Sam, they had never heard of him. But they knew good canoe material when they saw it and straightway with their hunting knives they sliced great blanket pieces from the sides of the fallen monster and from the magic fabric fashioned canoes that rode the waves like a thistle-down. The air had given the northland their most marvelous craft.

The Indians who wrecked Uncle Sam's gasbag are known as pictographs of the wilderness. While on a recent visit, the chief of the outlaws was asked if he were not afraid of getting into trouble for cutting up a balloon belonging to the great republic across the border. With a shrug, he drew from his pocket a roll of money that would have made a rent hog jealous. He was ready to deal with Uncle Sam as one man with another.

"How much cost for big bag?" he asked indifferently. "We buy the tam thing now and pay spot cash."

SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C.F. Phillips, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

PASTOR TELLS OF WORTH OF WORK

"The Tempering of Youth" was the subject of an address by Pastor Edward Babcock to the members of the Christian Endeavor societies in the First Baptist church yesterday morning. During the service the officers of the societies were installed. "I believe that work, even if part of it is actual drudgery, is good for young people," said the speaker. "I believe a farm is the best place on which to bring up boys and girls. At any rate, every child should be held responsible for some duty to help perform every day. It is a necessary part of education. We are told that these things are to be taught by means of moving pictures. Good thing if that means that young people should get under the real burdens of life and in the church. "It is important to help the pastor, superintendent and officers of the church. In such effort and service our leaders are developed. Young people will be sure to take up some kind of burden. Then why should it not be in God's service? When I began my education I had only $10, and I had to work my way through college and help in the support of a family of six children. Young people, be responsible and faithful. Take up this work in the spirit of Christ. He coupled with him and thus bear the burdens of His church and missionary enterprises."

IRISH NATL. FORESTERS PLAN FIELD DAY

The Irish National Foresters held a largely attended meeting at A.O.H. hall yesterday afternoon. Chief Ranger Joseph J. Handley in the chair. There was a considerable amount of routine business transacted, following reports of the various officers for the last quarter. These showed the branch to be in a flourishing condition and that there was a substantial increase in membership. The branch formed a committee of the whole with St. Elizabeth's branch to complete arrangements for the Gaelic field day to be held at Spaulding park on May 30. The different committees reported progress and it appeared that plans have been made for an ideal day's sports at the park. Nodded athletes will appear and a large program of sports will be provided. The proceeds of the day will be turned over to the Irish relief fund.

POLISH SONGS AT ALL SOULS' RECITAL

The national song that stirred the hearts of the Poles during the revolution of 1830-31 was rendered in All Souls' church yesterday afternoon as part of a recital of Polish and American music. The recital was given by Albert Edmund Brown and Miss Helen Taylor, organist. Kurpius's "God of Poland" was sung and compositions by Padewski and Chopin were included in the program. The American music rendered included compositions by Ford, Dunham and Mason. Mr. Brown sang Allister's "The Lord is My Light." The closing number was Rogers' concert overture for the organ, "The Star Spangled Banner."

Elderly People Need This In Medicine Chest

To relieve chronic constipation, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy.

NEARLY all people as they advance in age suffer from chronic constipation. Many, however, are indifferent to the laxative they use, on the theory that "they are all alike." That is a great mistake.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for example, is a mild, gentle liquid laxative, and it does not lose its effect with repeated use. It so trains the bowel muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

A sixty-cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last many months. The prescription was written thirty years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, a well-known family doctor, who is himself now in his 82nd year and can appreciate what chronic constipation must mean to elderly people; how it brings on headaches, colds, loss of appetite and sleep, heaviness and a general dull feeling.

Every home that has an elderly man or woman should be provided with a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year. It is a truly wonderful constipation remedy.

unique distinction of having within our own organization an orchestra, a mandolin club and a choral society. The directors of these serve without recompense.

These musical clubs serve a three-fold purpose: The handing together of people of superior talent for mutual improvement, to study and enjoy under supervision the best in music—and to inspire, help and lead those with undeveloped talent. To develop in us who have not had a musical education an appreciation of the best music, no jazz or ragtime is ever allowed in any of our musical clubs. To give to us a delightful musical program at every Sunday meeting.

Through the educational committee, classes in practical arts—cooking, home nursing, millinery and dressmaking have been formed besides the important work of reviewing and selecting the best books by members of the committee.

For three years instructive courses of lectures were given under the direction of the civics committee. These lectures were given by men and women who are experts on the subjects treated and were given free and were open to the public.

With all this cultural and educational work we were not unmindful of the poor and needy, and through the social service committee we were always ready to help.

To provide for the younger members and the older ones, too, an occasional good time—a series of whists and cardinals were conducted this year. They proved their value both socially and financially—the last of them will take place next Thursday—and will be the formal closing of the year's work.

Apart from the activities within our organization, from the beginning we have taken a part in the civic welfare of our own city and have responded to every call for help or assistance outside. In our first year of existence our share in the Red Cross and epidemic work is still fresh in our memories. The furnishing of the doctor's room in St. John's hospital was the privilege of the league. We gave valuable assistance in securing a clubhouse or division centre for all Catholic women's activities in the archdiocese of Boston. This house, though located in Boston, is open to our members.

And now at the closing of our third year we had the honor of directing the button day drive for the starving and suffering children of Ireland, from which the sum of $4656 was realized. These were some of the big things we did.

But we have an interest in the every-day life of our city, state and nation. We have a membership in the Lowell chamber of commerce; we are affiliated with the Boston League of Catholic Women, and with the National Council of Catholic Women, with headquarters in Washington.

In the summer of 1920 the league became responsible for supplying a supervisor for the Charles street twilight playground—your secretary, Miss M. Alice Cox, assuming charge.

Your president was one of a committee to secure from the city classes in cooking for non-English speaking women.

When our organization was little more than a year old, at the wish of the cardinal, we secured a downtown office.

Mrs. George Allard and Mrs. Henry J. Bourke not only selected the furnishings for the room, but through their efforts the room was turned over to the organization furnished and the furnishings paid for, and it has been since used as the centre of all our activities.

Our organization owns a cello, viola, 500 copies of the league hymnal and also copies of two oratorios, the "Stabat Mater" and "Holy City."

To carry on our big work we have only the yearly fees of members. Had the program committee to pay for the talent for our Sunday lectures at market value we could not do all this work.

God has blessed our work and it has blessed us in our members. We have a body of superior women who are only eager to serve. We have discovered an abundance of talent and we have but touched the surface. There is nothing that our women, united as we are, cannot accomplish. We owe much to one who has guided, advised and directed us in our work—our director, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin. Notwithstanding his own parochial duties, which are many, he was always ready to give his assistance, and his cheery word of hope and encouragement inspired and strengthened us.

Seven members of our executive board retire today. They are Mrs. Henry J. Bourke, Mrs. George Allard, Mrs. Agnes Fay, Miss Mary Farrell, Mrs. Leon Mullin, Miss Esther Downing and Miss Josephine Murphy; also Miss Winifred Hagerly and Mrs. Harry Decells, vice presidents; Mrs. Patrick Hagley and Miss M. Alice Cox, corresponding and recording secretaries, and our faithful treasurer, Miss Julia Rafter. These were our charter members. They were responsible for the building and beginning of this grand organization—to some of their work, we owe our present form of constitution. Never were there more earnest, faithful workers. We were all a happy official family with one thought—the good of our organization. They retire from office but not from duty; for they will still continue in service. And now in conclusion as I lay down the burden of office which I have held for two happy years—strenuous at times, to be sure—it is with a heart full of gratitude to you all for your good-will and co-operation. It has been a joy to be your president. To my successor I bequeath a splendidly organized body of more than 15,000 women, all united and ready for her term of great activity and usefulness. There is much yet to be done, and all working together we shall accomplish what we will.

FULL MEETING OF ALLIED COUNCIL

Possibility Discussed as Result of Polish Revolt in Upper Silesia

Reports Reaching London Indicate Cessation of Fighting

LONDON, May 16—There may be a full meeting of the supreme allied council for the purpose of discussing the situation which has arisen in Silesia as a result of the Polish revolt there. Decision on this point has not as yet been reached, and in some quarters it is said that a meeting of Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Briand of France is favored at the present time, rather than a meeting of the council.

Despatches from Paris indicate that M. Briand intends to lay the situation before the chamber of deputies when it meets on Thursday, following a recess of a fortnight. There has been an exchange of views between the British and French governments. Suggestions that a meeting be held, have been met with assertions in Paris that it would be impossible for the French premier to discuss personally the Silesian affair with Mr. Lloyd George until after Thursday.

Advices received here over the weekend appeared to indicate a cessation of fighting in upper Silesia, but there was nothing to show that the Poles were withdrawing from regions they occupied during the past two weeks. Newspaper comment here seemed to indicate moderate and reflected a disposition to advise Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand to reach an amicable understanding relative to the Silesia problem, although in quarters where Mr. Lloyd George's attitude relative to Poland is condemned blame was placed upon him.

HELD ANNUAL MAY PROCESSION

Attired in white gowns, with veils and wreaths, and carrying flowers, the members of the Children of Mary sodality at St. Joseph's parish participated in their annual May procession, which was held yesterday afternoon. The young women assembled in the basement of St. Jean Baptiste church at 130 clock, from which they marched to the granite of the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street, via Merrimack and Pawtucket streets.

The young women were accompanied by the Sisters of the Cross of St. Joseph's convent, and were led by Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I., spiritual director of the sodality, who recited the rosary. Upon reaching the granite, a sermon was delivered by Rev. Fr. Gratton, O.M.I., and later he officiated at benediction during which special hymns were sung by the sodality choir. There were over 600 young women in line.

be listed as a slacker in its support of the army.

A committee during the week is to give the business section of the city a fine-tooth combing for contributions and it is expected that there will be few persons in the section who will not have been given a chance to add to the fund, and that those who have already dipped into their purses will have had an opportunity to "come across" a second time, before Saturday night.

The members of the Rotary club are out to make a determined campaign to gather in coin from the industrial plants and from their success in similar enterprises in the past it is felt certain that they will roll up a long list of subscriptions for the army's benefit.

The local theatre managers' decision that they would not permit the use of their houses for soliciting contributions has not dampened the ardor of the Elks to make their part of the drive a success.

A contest was supposed to have been on between the police and the firemen to see which would secure the largest sum in contributions. Whether the contest is still on is uncertain. The police have already gathered over $300. No report has yet been made by the firemen, and it is uncertain whether they will turn in a report that will show that they have put one over on the cops.

No report has yet been received from the American Legion and the canvass in city hall under the direction of Arthur F. Woodley, the mayor's private secretary, is supposed to be still going on.

Contributions to the fund may be sent to Salvation Army drive headquarters, chamber of commerce, 7 Merrimack square.
